

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

SOME WEEKS AGO, prominence was given in the press to a story about the alleged lack of knowledge shown by a group of British schoolchildren in their replies to a questionnaire on Canada, submitted to them by a Canadian Press correspondent in London.

According to the news item, he was shocked at their uncertainty as to where Canada is. Of the 37 children, aged from 10 to 12, 16 put it in or near the north of America; five said it was in the United States, others thought it was either a continent, in the Arctic, or in South America.

INDIAN LANGUAGE

WHEN IT CAME to our language, eight thought we spoke Canadian, seven that it was American, three specified English and French, and two thought we conversed in the Indian tongue. When it came to some Canadian cities, New York and New Orleans were named as two of our biggest.

Such ignorance was received with horror. But, frankly, I was not as startled as he was. Not only youngsters but adults as well have been deluded into confusing Canada with the United States owing to the ever-growing similarity of our way of life with that of the Americans, and by the flood of U.S. films that reach the British movie theatres—and the almost total lack of Canadian ones.

NOT IN ARCTIC

AS TO THE child who thought this country was 'in the Arctic, what is there surprising about that in view of the fact that any illustrations of Canada shown in Britain invariably picture it in the depth of an eastern or prairie winter? Furthermore, such an impression only bears out the legend started by Kipling's 'Lady of the Snows' designation—a legend which dies hard.

When it comes to language, I can just as easily understand an English child thinking that Canada is our tongue. For the varying accent of the provinces is as foreign to an Old Country ear as a Dorset or Somerset accent is to a Canadian unused to the strange shades of country dialects. To them, too, it is hard to distinguish between the American and Canadian nuances of language. That's why Canadians are so often affronted in their national pride by being mistaken for Americans in the British Isles.

CANADIAN IGNORANCE

BUT ANOTHER QUIZ has turned the tables. A Canadian Press correspondent directed similar questions, but on England, to a group of 37 schoolchildren in Toronto. And the results were just as startling.

Most of them knew where England was, although one said it was 'in England,' and another in eastern Europe. Only seven of the youngsters listed four names of English towns, and only one of them had all four correct. I chuckled to read that among Britain's exports to Canada were 'ballet-dancing examiners'—shades of some child's dancing classes!—'men for war, tourists, English calendars—and Winston Churchill!' How he would enjoy that!

NEED MORE KNOWLEDGE

BOTH QUESTIONNAIRES reveal one thing—that both countries sadly need to disseminate more factual knowledge about themselves. What better vehicle could there be than documentary films descriptive of the normal, everyday lives of both peoples? Such pictures would be more convincing than acres of words and columns of statistics.

And, before we adults get too smug, let us remind ourselves that a quiz might reveal the ignorance even grown Canadians have about other parts of Canada. Perhaps it needs documentary films—or dynamite!—to teach some CBC and certain Ottawa officials, for instance, that Canada doesn't finish at Vancouver and that Victoria is still the capital city of British Columbia.

Long-Awaited Phones Due This Summer

Current Program Target Announced

A B.C. Telephone Company program now under way is expected to provide telephone service for the majority of waiting applicants by summer, according to announcement today.

A total of more than 1,500 telephones were installed in Victoria last year—most of them in the last four months, the company said.

The company's current $500,000 Victoria central office expansion program started last September made the increase possible, it is stated.

The telephones were installed as additional automatic equipment became available in the biggest project of its kind to be undertaken in Victoria since the system was converted to dial operation 23 years ago.

A $300,000 outside cable program designed to match the central office additional was completed last year with a second cable project costing in the neighborhood of $100,000 scheduled to start before this summer.

Bail, New Trial Sought for Reds Facing Sentence

NEW YORK (BUP)—Defense lawyers say they plan to seek a new trial for 13 "second string" Communist leaders convicted in New York of plotting the violent overthrow of the United States government.

John McKernan—chief defense counsel for the 13—says he'll file a motion before trial Judge Edward Dimock within five days asking that the conviction be set aside and a new trial granted.

He says if the motion is denied, the case will be appealed to the Federal Circuit Court of Appeals and that he'll try to get the defendants released on bail.

Dimock has ordered the Reds held without bail until their sentencing Jan. 28.

NO HINT OF BUS RUN CUTS SAYS BCER SPOKESMAN

B.C. Electric plans no reduction of transit service in Victoria, a company spokesman said today.

The company official was questioned in view of several references in recent issues of the transit publication, "The Buzzer," which told of reductions in frequency of bus service in other cities.

The official denied that the references were intended as "handwriting on the wall."

He said they were printed to show users of the Victoria system that providing public transportation was a difficult business, and that in many places companies were having to reduce service in order to carry on.

At the same time, he said the company had no plans for increasing service in this area.

"Planning service is a difficult matter," he said. "We are merely trying to explain to the public so it will understand the difficulty."

War-Time Visitor Leaves Legacies to Victorians

Six Victoria people are among beneficiaries of the estate of Miss Clara Agnes Cornelia Zuur, who died a little over a year ago in Holland.

Miss Zuur, who left an estate of $228,853, lived in Victoria during the Second World War. She was on her way back to Holland after visiting the Dutch East Indies when war broke out so took up residence on Osler Street.

In her will she remembered Miss Jane Hall, 2438 Lincoln Road, who is to receive $1,000; Miss Dorothy Gordon Cox, 950 Falmouth Road, $1,000; W. G. Laming, 228 Memorial Crescent, $1,000; H. Beutelspacher, 411 Chester Street, $1,000; Capt. James Barr, 965 Portage Road, $500; and Miss N. K. Wyles, 1853 Oak Bay Avenue, $1,000.

There are 68 other beneficiaries. Always a lover of animals, she left much of her money to societies in Holland concerned with the protection of horses, dogs, birds and other domestic creatures.

The will was probated in B.C. Supreme Court this week.

Soldier Acquitted

HALIFAX (CP)—A Nova Scotia Supreme Court jury Wednesday acquitted Cpl. Gerald Higgins, charged with theft of $200 worth of army boots and clothing.

Higgins denied he was implicated in thefts from the large ordnance depot here. Army officers said earlier that there was a $1,500 inventory shortage at the end of 1951.

False Passport Ring Cleaned Up As Dragnet Spread, Says Ottawa

By Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—Charges laid this week against six men, four of them former government employees, are believed by the immigration department to have smashed and cleaned up the false passport ring in which as many as 300 Italians entered this country illegally.

Still continuing are investigations into the cases of two other former employees at Rome and Karlsruhe, Germany, and in connection with a travel agency in New York. However, charges may never be laid in these cases because of the difficulties involved in bringing persons outside Canada to trial.

Officials of the immigration department said Wednesday they were satisfied the ring has been smashed. The persons in Rome and Karlsruhe, it was stated, are "individual operators" and not related to the charges laid this week.

All the charges concerned persons who had "expedited" the entry of Italian immigrants through arranging to have their names placed high on priority lists for entry into Canada. Many of the immigrants settled in Eastern Canada, largely in Montreal; but others spread across Canada and are believed to have settled at the West Coast and some in Prairie cities. Others are in the U.S. Charges against the former government officials—three of them formerly on the staff of the immigration department—concerned the taking of fees.

The cases have all been under investigation for two years and involved the search by the RCMP of thousands of documents. Scores of immigrants were questioned. Three of six men suspected of having played leading parts in the ring were arrested Tuesday in Montreal. Warrants have been issued for the arrest of the three other men. It may take as much as two weeks before all are rounded up. One is in England, another "somewhere in Quebec" and the third in Ontario.

Crisis in Europe

EVENTS in Europe during the last few weeks must be highly satisfactory to Mr. Stalin. Without warning a political crisis has blown up to threaten the whole scheme of European defense. President Eisenhower beholds the cornerstone of his foreign policy in grave peril.

These alarming developments began with one of France's familiar political upheavals. When the Pinay government fell the new premier, M. Mayer could not form a new government without making large concessions to the Gaullists, who are firmly opposed to the rearmament of Germany.

Accordingly, Mr. Mayer agreed to hold up and amend the treaty which would establish the European Defense Community, including some twelve divisions of German troops. He demands greater liberty of action for France within this international army and he also insists that the intractable problem of the Saar be settled before the treaty takes effect.

Western Germany's reaction to this French demarche was instantaneous. Chancellor Adenauer, who had planned to push the defense treaty through his parliament immediately, reversed his policy overnight. He, too, wants the treaty amended to satisfy the opinion of his people.

As a result, ratification of the treaty has been postponed indefinitely.

But the domestic politics of the desperate French and German governments do not fully explain this set-back for European defense. Behind these immediate manoeuvres lie France's historic fear of a strong Germany and Germany's determination to regain its full sovereignty as one of the great powers of Europe. Those conflicting forces could destroy any chance of making western Europe defensible. For the first military fact there is that defense is only possible if Germany is rearmed. Without a strong German contingent in an international force the continent, at least to the Rhine and probably to the English Channel, is at the mercy of a Russian advance.

The entire American policy in Europe thus is based on the international army scheme of which President Eisenhower is one of the chief architects. That he regards that plan as essential was indicated by his telegram to Mr. Adenauer a few weeks ago, urging European unity. But Mr. Adenauer replied by delaying the army treaty.

The new President, therefore, faces the crisis in his first days of office. He may be expected to exert all the power of his office to get his defense plan in Europe back on the rails. The alternative is grim.

It is said in Washington that if France will not co-operate with its allies then the United States can proceed to arm Germany and make it the pivot of European strategy. The United States, indeed, has built and stockpiled the entire equipment needed for the proposed German armed forces. But if the United States thus abandons the international army plan it will antagonize all of Europe outside Germany. The whole project of European unity—military, political and economic—might well collapse.

This is precisely what Stalin desires. By his policy of "peace" he hopes to take the steam out of Europe's rearmament drive and to set the allies quarreling. In his ability to prevent that quarrel, to rescue Europe from its present disagreements, the statesmanship of President Eisenhower will be put to instant test. The next few weeks may prove decisive for the future of Europe and the free world.

Music and Drink

THE REPORT OF THE STEVENS liquor inquiry committee, admirable in most respects, contains some loose and ambiguous language, which is hardly surprising when it was prepared, at the government's wishes, in such haste. Mr. Stevens has clarified some aspects of this document but its meaning in regard to entertainment in liquor establishments still is not clear.

For example, it is indicated plainly enough that there may be music and floor shows in cabarets, which could hardly operate otherwise. There can be music, either mechanical or orchestral, in cocktail lounges and restaurants serving liquor, as there should be, if the patrons desire it and the proprietors can afford it. But it is difficult to understand the committee's intentions towards beer parlors, or public houses as they are to be called.

The musicians of British Columbia seem to be under the impression that only the canned music of juke boxes is to be permitted in such establishments. We hope the musicians are wrong about that. If the report is a little vague here and hurriedly worded, we take it to mean that any kind of music can be permitted in any place serving liquor.

That is to say, if a proprietor wishes to hire an orchestra or a pianist he is entitled to do so. He should be. For obviously there is no more harm in music directly produced by human musicians than in music issuing, often in repulsive tones, from a machine.

The musicians are quite right in asking that the report be clarified in this regard, in urging that the government should not forbid them to perform wherever their services are desired. America has plenty of canned music, too much to suit many people. Anything which encourages living music benefits not only musicians (who often find it hard to earn a living) but the listeners as well. And good music will be a useful antidote and deterrent to excessive drinking.

The Head of the Nile

WITH ITS LATEST STEP, THE Egyptian dictatorship of Gen. Naguib has undergone the almost inevitable development of such regimes. Although the depositor of King Farouk had entered the political scene with declarations of the most democratic motives, he has not been able to maintain the functions of parliament and the political rights of the people.

Last Saturday Premier Naguib arrested a number of army officers and civilians on charges that they conspired to cause a revolution against his government. Simultaneously Naguib declared himself sole ruler of Egypt for the next three years and dissolved all political parties for that length of time.

It may well be that in this instance the premier has been forced into his autocratic action. He had received little support from many sections of Egyptian politics. The reforms he urged progressed very slowly. The bureaucratic structure of the Egyptian civil service was slow in purging itself of the corruption that had become an integral part of it during the long years of Farouk's rule. It may well be that Egypt's only hope of eventually establishing an operative democracy lies in a complete house cleaning and a new deal after a period of dictatorship.

The dangers, however, are obvious. Naguib denied any ambitions toward complete control when he took over the reins of government. But his advent as a "strong man" made it impossible for him to stay in the background as merely the figurehead for an elective regime. With or without his own wish, he found himself compelled to take more and more power in order to accomplish what he had set out to do.

The chances, therefore, that he can retire quietly from the scene at the end of three years, leaving Egypt with a workable democratic government, are not too bright. That feat has been accomplished successfully only once in history—in the case of Kemal Ataturk and Turkey. There is every likelihood that Gen. Naguib will find it necessary to continue beyond the specified three years, due to some emergency, some crisis or unsettled conditions.

He has set out on the type of road that has few turnings and all too often leads to disaster.

The Cost of a Small War

GENERAL OMAR BRADLEY, chairman of the American joint chiefs of staff, gives a Congressional committee in Washington a glimpse of the cost of a modern war, even a so-called small war in Korea. One fact strikingly illustrates that cost: Navy and marine corps planes fighting in Korea had used, up to last May, more bombs, rockets, machine gun bullets and other ordnance than they had used all over the world in fighting the Second World War.

By all previous standards the struggle in Korea is a major and costly war, in money, weapons and bloodshed. The free world, which that war is designed to protect, should never forget that the United States is paying most of the bill.

LOOSE ENDS

False Spring

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

OUT here on this curious shelf carved into the flank of the Pacific Coast by the glaciers not long ago we are subject to treacherous weather, especially to a false spring.

No doubt by the time this appears in print the deception will have been revealed by a return of winter. At the moment it is spring in everything but name, by the measurement of temperature and growth, especially by the measurement of that unreliable thermometer, the human spirit. We all feel spring in our bones already, though we may yet feel cold.

Anyway, the old-time coastal creature, often deceived before but still hopeful, grasps his shovel at this season and attacks the soil. Several weeks too soon. This is no good for the soil, which will be packed down again by rain and perhaps even snow, but it is good for the shoveler. Good, I mean, in much more than a physical sense.

USEFUL MACHINE

Not that I despise the body. It is a useful mechanism, properly used. Indeed, I am inclined to believe that if all Canada could enjoy a false spring and an occasional season of digging the nation's health would be greatly improved. The body is obviously overweight, the men who control it are palpably suffering from lack of exercise and government itself bears a white, flabby look. It needs more digging.

However, the great blessing of a false spring is purely mental and spiritual. It cleanses the whole being, providing it is well-used with outdoor exercise and the contemplation which only the outdoors and exercise can provide.

The man who digs in the depth of winter, hoping against hope that it is really spring, at once escapes from the cloying months of introspection, isolation and unreality. He is back to earth. It is no small thing to get back to earth in a world of this sort, to step across the centuries and return to the Garden of Eden, with Adam's first gardening tool in your hand.

THE CLUB

You might say that the whole dismal history of the human species is represented in the decline of the shovel. It was the first tool. After Adam's unfortunate fall and exile in the wilderness he dropped his shovel and took up a club.

All civilization is an attempt to return from the club to the shovel. And civilization is now in decline precisely because that process has been reversed. Man is turning more and more from the shovel to the club, now known as a hydrogen bomb. If the climate of Moscow were different, if Stalin and his colleagues could dig in the earth occasionally during the winter, civilization's prospects would be much better. At the moment, however, the shovel is neglected and the world is ruled by a club.

Now the spiritual results of digging are not likely to appear to the unskilled digger. "A man who does not know how to dig will find no fun in it, no consolation and no peace."

Many people imagine, as they drive by in their automobiles with nothing more formidable in their hands than a steering wheel, that the man digging by the roadside is doing the simplest and most primitive sort of work. They cannot realize that he is an artist. Nevertheless, if he is a real digger, he is an artist, physically and mentally. For digging, though it may be done in a fashion by an unskilled laborer, is among the highest arts.

THE CREATOR

It is an art, to begin with, because it creates. It is the first basic coat of paint, smeared across the year's canvas, on which the full picture of summer will be painted later in colors beyond the grasp of the painter. It is an art also in its skill and requires a long, painful apprenticeship.

Moreover, that apprenticeship must be endured again and again every year, as every man knows when he picks up his shovel in the false spring and finds within the hour that his body is exhausted. He must learn over again all the laws of physics, the principle of the wedge and the lever, for example, before he can lift and turn the soil properly.

The human machine, unfortunately, was ill-designed for this work and must be re-designed by the development of new muscles, a new posture and a new balance of forces. In time the machine can become quite efficient for this purpose, though of course it will no longer be good for anything else.

To be a digger a man must consecrate his whole body to the task. It is too heavy for most bodies to bear and few minds are able to face the loneliness of the land, the cold soil and the poor rewards of this exertion.

Nevertheless, the happiest man in Canada today is the victim of the false spring, the man who, by a high feat of imagination, can suppose that real spring is here, who grasps the shovel months too soon and digs up not merely the earth but the darker substance of his soul, turning it to the sunshine and the cleansing wind.

DEATH AND TAXES

The Social Crediters with a stroke of the pen can produce money out of thin air (Bruce Hutchison in Loose Ends). Now Homo Sapiens in his groping around to explain to himself why he was here on earth and whither bound, had come at last to believe that the only stable facts of life were death and taxes.

The stroke of the pen, of course, eliminates the need for taxes, leaving only death to console him—agnostics, atheists and fundamentalists, etc., notwithstanding.

FOOD COST FOR LOW INCOMES
Your editorial "How Dear to Memory—How Dear," January 14, is rather interesting.

You, Mr. Editor, state therein: "A Canadian department of agriculture study reveals that the average citizen in this country devoted to food approximately 23 per cent of his 1951 income available for spending."

The words "available for spending" are rather vague, but it may mean income less taxes; that is to say, less income and property taxes. As General

Pearkes, MP, stated not long ago, the average person has to pay more in hidden taxes than in income tax.

Twenty-three per cent may not seem much for the "average" person, but what about the hundreds of thousands—if not a million or more—who have to try to exist on a fixed income, less than half average, who cannot indulge in a new car (or any car), television set, refrigerator, renewal of clothing, maintenance of shelter, entertainment and so many other things, which are routine for the average person nowadays. Being a member of that fixed low-income group, I calculated how much we (family of two) are spending on food: over the last three months, October-December, 1952, it came to 43½ per cent, with only very little difference between the months. And part of the food consumed, some fruit, vegetables, eggs, poultry is produced here, and cost of work involved, is not counted.

By the same token, the official cost of living index is far below the real one for this group, since food index is around 240 and counts nearly twice as heavy for us as for the average person. Just the same, we intend to hang on!

F. H. STAVEMAN.

Baseball, Pipers and Hanging Baskets

A local sports writer stated the other day in his column that Victoria could well do without its hanging baskets and its pipers welcoming visitors to Victoria in favor of retaining baseball for this part of the Island.

On the question of piping visitors into Victoria, I find myself in partial agreement with him. There is a possibility that incoming Americans may draw the conclusion from the strains of the bagpipes that Victoria is nothing more or less than a home from home for the omnipresent Scot. In order to prevent any such misconception arising, I suggest that the matter of welcoming visitors should be treated with greater imagination.

Could not the League of Roses occasionally take over from the pipers and, while the Lancastrian section involved regaled our traveling cousins with some of the racier songs of George Formby, the Yorkist part might do a clog dance a la Dan Leno who, at the height of his career, was a world champion.

Again, in order that those of Welsh extraction in our midst be duly honored, might not the local Welsh society choose from their members an equal number of men and women who, garbed in Druidical robes, could initiate our visitors into the mysteries of a miniature Eisteddfod?

That the listeners would know no Cymric need not matter; they don't get much out of the bagpipes.

To add another note of variety: A set of Morris dancers suitably clad would provide a distinctive note of color and gaiety.

But why stop there? Why should the Scots be always to the fore? For a change, let the pipers take a holiday and let us replace them with other attractions.

The retention of baseball at the expense of doing without hanging baskets is going too far. Why cater to barbarism? The only service that baseball performs is to make all the more forcible by contrast what civilized sport really is. The only baseball game that ran its full length without the questioning of an umpire's decision was that game which took place in Galveston, Texas, on July 4, 1862.

That no altercation took place was due to the fact that the plate umpire was the local sheriff armed with two six-shooters, a sheriff who threatened to puncture (or was it "pink") anyone who should question his word. A deadly and horrifying silence followed.

Finally, let the sports writer in question approach the outlying municipalities to help finance baseball. Why should Victoria always pay for the amusement and benefit of others? I'd go further and say let them take it over entirely, the farther away the better—which brings one back to the bagpipes, a musical monstrosity that sounds so much the better the farther away they are.

"VICTORIAN."

Mr. Wilson And the Law

By WALTER LIPPMANN from Washington

THE difficulty of Mr. Wilson in meeting the legal requirements has caught everyone by surprise. For it had occurred to no one that a practical man of his eminence, used to acting on the advice of legal counsel, would not have taken the necessary measures to qualify himself before his name was presented to the Senate. That he did not do this was a mistake. Quite obviously it was a mistake due not to an intent to violate or evade the law, but to innocence and inexperience in public life.

The mistake having been made, the question now is whether it will be corrected or whether it will be compounded. Under Title 18 of the United States Code, Sec. 434, Mr. Wilson's interest in the General Motors Corporation makes him ineligible to be Secretary of Defense. The General Motors Corporation is the largest single contractor with which the Department of Defense deals.

The law forbids "the transaction of business" by "an officer of the United States" with a "business entity" when he is "directly or indirectly interested in the pecuniary profits." Mr. Wilson holds some two and one-half million dollars of General Motors stock and has certain other financial interests in the company.

There are only two courses open if Mr. Wilson is to qualify. The one is to amend the law. This is Sen. Taft's suggestion. The other is for Mr. Wilson to divest himself of his interests in the pecuniary profits of the General Motors Corporation. This is Sen. Carlson's advice.

SOUND ADVICE

The advice is sound. For even if the Congress were willing to amend the law for Mr. Wilson's benefit, which it certainly will not do quickly if it does it at all, the Eisenhower administration and Mr. Wilson could not, I believe, afford to ask for or to accept such a special privilege for one man's private advantage. Far from making it easier for rich and successful men to take public office and to hold the confidence of the public, such a special law will make it much more difficult for them to hold public confidence. It would in fact be a tragic blunder to inaugurate a conservative administration, the first in twenty years, with special legislation for private benefit.

The right thing to do is to abide by the law. That would mean that Mr. Wilson should agree to divest himself of his interests. Then, since the financial operation is necessarily a complicated one, the Senate would surely be willing to agree that the operation should be carried out with consideration and equity, as proposed for example by Sen. Butler of Maryland.

DEEPLY GROUNDED

There is no way in which the law can be amended without creating a special privilege. For the policy of this law is deeply grounded in the whole system of American laws and moral code. The policy of the law rests on the principle that a public office is a public trust, and as Judge Story says, "If confidence is reposed, it must be . . . preserved from any intemperance of imposition." From the beginning of the Republic this rule has been enacted in U.S. laws.

No one, for example, can qualify for the Interstate Commerce Commission who is "peculiarly interested" in "any common carrier." No one can qualify for the Federal Communications Commission who is "financially interested" in the manufacture or sale of appliances of any kind for wire or radio communications. No one can be qualified for the Federal Power Commission if he is "peculiarly interested" in "the sale of power."

NO REVISION

Such a body of laws, with the principles and the policies they declare, cannot be ignored, or suddenly revised. And why should they be? The tax which Mr. Wilson would have to pay is a lot of money. But many another man has made a financial sacrifice to serve his government which was quite as painful for him. Mr. Wilson is old enough and rich enough to pay the tax. When he has paid it, he will feel the better for doing it.

For if he does pay it, he will not only have the office but along with it he will have the indispensable thing which makes it possible to succeed in and to enjoy a public office. That thing is the confidence of the country and of the Congress.

Costs Count

Winnipeg Free Press

In the annual report of the MacMillan and Bloedel Company of British Columbia, president H. R. MacMillan makes a point which is of special interest in the prairie provinces and, indeed, applies to this country as a whole.

Mr. MacMillan points out that 73 per cent of the lumber produced in British Columbia—and lumber is B.C.'s chief industry—is exported. This 73 per cent has to be sold in highly competitive world markets. At the moment, Mr. MacMillan says, the keenest competition comes from Scandinavian and United States lumber.

If British Columbia is going to be able to continue to sell this lumber abroad it is obvious that costs of production must be held down. But instead of being able to keep costs down, the B.C. lumber industry finds that its costs are constantly rising, with resultant unemployment.

Commenting on this situation, Mr. MacMillan says:

"The per capita cost of the provincial government, which was about $88 in 1945-46, rose to $118 by 1952-53. During that period the provincial cost of education rose by 37 per cent, and of welfare rose by 341 per cent. These costs do not appear to have reached a ceiling. At the same time workers are pressing to work less hours per year. It is easy to see that the 90 per cent or more of our customers outside British Columbia will not pay extra to meet these extra costs."

'Death Zone' on Berlin Borders Nearing Reality

BERLIN (AP). — Four hundred East German farmers fled to West Berlin Tuesday night and told refugee officials that a Communist plan for a "death zone" around the city is nearing reality.

Most of the farmers said they had been warned they would be forcibly evacuated to the deep interior of the Russian zone and their lands confiscated.

The so-called death-zone preparations started several months ago. Communist police indicated they intended to seal off an area one kilometer five-eighths of a mile deep on the 70-mile West Berlin border. To be caught in this area without specific permission could mean death from the guns of the Soviet-trained border police.

Building Code Vital to B.C. Council Feels

Establishment of a uniform provincial building code was approved Wednesday night by Oak Bay council.

The matter was broached in a letter received from Vancouver Fire Marshall W. A. Walker. He stated at a meeting recently of various provincial building and fire authorities the standardizing of building codes throughout the province was discussed.

Oak Bay Fire Chief E. G. Clayards attended.

Reeve P. A. Gibbs said that Oak Bay had deferred action in modernizing building by-laws in the hope that a national building code would be brought down. Mr. P. F. Birley pointed out that a dominion code exists but "it is written with an eastern viewpoint."

Reeve Gibbs agreed that what might be good building practice in the east may not be here. The letter was filed.

Barrie Again Heads Trade, Labor Council

Robert Barrie of the Chemical and Explosives Workers Union was re-elected Wednesday night president of the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council for his third successive term.

Thomas Gooderham was re-elected vice-president; A. P. Rayment, secretary-treasurer, and Stickney Harris, sergeant-at-arms. Committee chairmen elected were: Earl Allen, organization; Stickney Harris, publicity; J. Stuart, hall; Ed Duncan, unemployment; Vince Butler, finance; John Quissv., building trades council delegate.

Trustees elected were George Reside, James Moffat and Colin McIvride.

TLC READY TO ENDORSE CIVIC CANDIDATES

Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council decided Wednesday night either to endorse or sponsor candidates in future civic and municipal elections in Greater Victoria.

"It is the right of organized labor to take part in municipal affairs," said John Aubry, retail clerks. "Councils deal with many matters concerning labor, and labor's voice is not heard."

The original motion was that candidates be "endorsed," but it was amended to include the word "sponsor."

A second motion carried, however, affirming that at no time will the council underwrite the expenses of any candidate so endorsed.

Rich Estate Will Benefit Sick Children's Hospital

The Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto is to receive a vast sum of money under terms of a will left by George James Arlow, a manufacturer, who died last June 5.

His estate was valued at $1,069,674.

Mr. Arlow's will was probated in B.C. Supreme Court this week since he had holding-shares in a B.C. company.

The will provided that his widow was to receive $100,000 at his death and an annuity of $25,000 a year for the rest of her life.

When Mrs. Arlow, who is 67 years of age, dies the will provides that Mr. Arlow's estate

Non-Voters May Lose Franchise Without Warning

A simplified method of striking names off the provincial voters' list has been approved by order-in-council.

In future, voters who have not voted, and failed to reply to "where-to-vote" notices sent out by election officials, will be considered to have left their electoral district. Their names will be struck off the list.

Previously, election officials were required to send out special cards in an effort to locate the voters who didn't exercise their franchise. Under the new system, this step will be abolished.

Return of the undelivered "where-to-vote" notice will be sufficient proof for the electoral officer to strike the name from the voters' list.

COAST SOCCER LEAD AT STAKE SATURDAY

Victoria United can join the select group of first-place residents Saturday when they host New Westminster Royals in a Coast Soccer League match at Athletic Park.

United is currently in second place, two points behind Royals and North Shore. North Shore, which defeated United 3-1 last Saturday, will be idle this week, giving United the opportunity of making it a three-way tie for the top spot.

In the other league game Saturday, Vancouver Firefighters and St. Andrews will meet in Vancouver.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

THE NOW-IT-CAN-BE-TOLD-DEPARTMENT — Victoria Cougars were recently offered Les Hickey and Walt Atanas of the Vancouver Canucks, and after several phone calls partially agreed to the deal, only to learn later that manager Frank Boucher of the Rangers nixed the move by informing the Canucks that no more immediate help was on the way west from New York and they would possibly end up short-handed.

General manager Art Chapman of the Canucks seeks either Murray Parker or Alex Kuzma of the Saskatoon Quakers, but with George Seniek finally on his way to the Rangers, the likelihood appears slim.

Vancouver scribes certainly didn't rate the Victoria Kins very highly following their week-end basketball invasion. Pat Horgan's answer would likely be: We lost to Ellers by only four points and we didn't have Doug Peden in uniform. It is also reported that Jack Pomfret, coach of the UBC Thunderbirds, is casting covetous eyes in the direction of giant Bill Dobbie of the Kins.

Earl Pollock tossing his support towards Foul Bay won't hurt their Inter-city Lacrosse League application bid as Earl was the angel behind the Shamrocks a few years ago and also was partly instrumental in finalizing the deal whereby the Rocks became here to some valuable imports. League secretary Tommy Gordon prefers to remain silent on the application as well as the possibility that Nanaimo could be a question mark in view of the Foul Bay bid.

There's a sneaky hunch in the back of my mind that New Westminster Royals could yet explode, but also that time may run out before they do. The same could happen to the Cougars. If there's any doubt that Emil Francis isn't the best goalkeeper in the WHL, it should have been dispelled Tuesday night. The Canucks haven't much weight up front and a long guess would be that they'll start slipping from here on in. So far, it's their quick start that has kept them in the forefront of the first division. Eddie Mazur is due back with the Cougars next week and barring other developments, which are pending, it means that at least one Cougar is set for the axe to keep the club within the 15-player limit.

A thank you note to Mrs. N. E. Duncan, 1415 Fort Street, for the information on the what might well be the oldest curling rink in history. Taking part in a recent bonspiel at Moose Jaw was a quartet which totalled the fantastic age of 283. Skip Henry Knoke is the baby of the old-timers at 63, others are James Fowler, 72; A. Cook, 75, and A. S. Thompson, 73. The quartet was the part played at the WHL dinner meeting by Fred "Junior" Mercey of Yakima, who kept the guests in stitches while Bob Brown as president played the straight role. The dinner ended with Mercey holding forth for the last time, roaring his laughter at the fast-departing guests. Baseball needn't worry with fellows like "Junior" in the game. And a baby girl to the Pat Horgans. What Dewey Soriano thinks of Rogers Hornsby as a manager isn't printable here.

Bill Templeton racked up 11 straight strikes in the Commercial Tenpin League, Wednesday, but alas, Bill had four in one game and seven in the next. He finished with a three-game total of 671 and a single high of 264. And apparently, too, the rumored player deal between Victoria Cougars and Seattle Bombers has fallen flat on the recent surge of the Bombers, who certainly must be ranked as the surprise club of the WHL.

Seixas Lone American In Tennis Semifinals

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—and her travelling companion, Julie Sampson of San Marino, Calif., moved into the semifinals of the women's singles division without exertion. Miss Connolly downed Jennifer Staley, Australian junior champion, 6-3, 6-2. Miss Sampson subdued Lois Nicholls, another Australian youngster, 6-2, 7-5.

The 18-year-old Rosewall, winner of his country's top prize last week, saw his game go stale against fellow Australian Rex Hartwig as he bowed 6-1, 4-6, 3-6, 6-3, 8-6.

Rosewall showed only flashes of the greatness displayed in the nationals. Down 5-4 in the fifth set, he saved three match points before Hartwig, a sharp volleyer, put over the kill.

Seixas, captain of the U.S. Davis Cup forces, displayed some of his finest form as he swept past Australia's Don Candy, 6-1, 6-3, 6-4, to join Hartwig, Mervyn Rose and young Lewis Hoad in the round of four.

Rose, southpaw Davis Cupper, came from behind to eliminate Straight Clark of Los Angeles, 6-3, 4-6, 3-6, 6-3. Hoad, who teamed with Rosewall to win the Australian doubles crown, trounced Italy's Fausto Gardini, 6-3, 8-6, 8-6.

The U.S. net queen, Maureen Connolly of San Diego, Calif.,

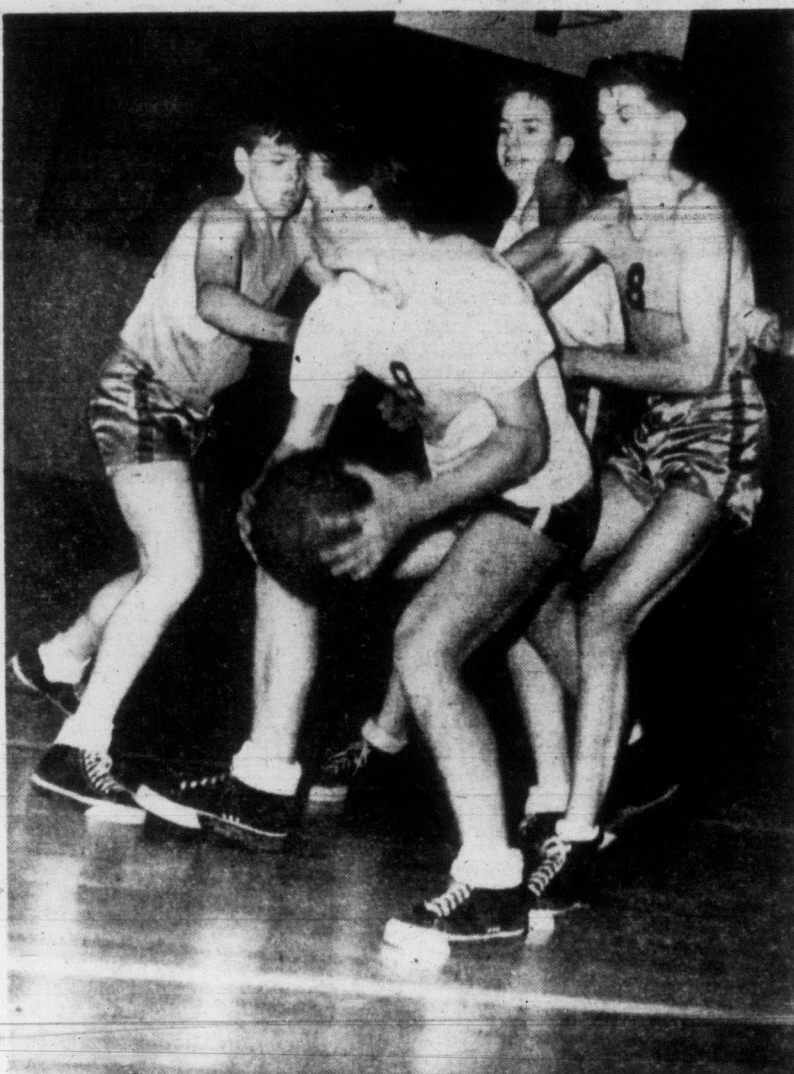

Demaret Tops Thunderbird Golf Field

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Jimmy Demaret won the 100,000 Thunderbird Country Club invitational golf tournament Wednesday, shooting a 67 for a total of 201 for the 54 holes of play.

In a battle of big names, Ben Hogan, Lloyd Mangrum and Jim Turnesa, all scoring 69s, finished in a tie at 203.

Cary Middlecoff, with a 67, was next at 204, and Doug Ford, with a 68, finished at 205.

Byron Nelson had a 70 and finished at 206 tied with four others. Par for the Thunderbird course is 36-72. Demaret, with previous rounds of 69-65, won $1,500.

Which Way Is Out?

First United's D. Parker, with ball, is stumped for an out as Flynn, left, and Kirk, right, of St. Louis College, close in on him in action that marked the closing of bantam boys' league play.

Wednesday. An unidentified United player, centre, finds the whole episode amusing, and no wonder. United went on to down the collegians, 42-28, at Esquimalt High School. (Times photo.)

Senior 'B' Cage Race Goes Into Final Game

Saturday will be B-Day in the Victoria and District Basketball Association, when the champion of the hotly-contested Senior B Men's League is decided.

Veterans of France shaded Butler's Aces, 46-33, at Esquimalt High School Wednesday night to climb into a first-place tie with Arrow Furniture and break a second-place tie between Vets and Aces.

Arrows and Butler's close out the league schedule Saturday night at Esquimalt and a victory for Arrows would make them league champs and give them a bye in the playoffs.

Lacrosse star Jackie Northup was Vets' high scorer with 12 points while Jimmy Lewis added 10. For Aces, Dave Burke scored 10 points.

The teams split 24 points in the first quarter but Aces held a 22-19 edge at the half. Vets gained a point in the third quarter and it was 30-28 for Aces going into the last frame.

FOUL LINE MASTERY
Aces fell flat in the last heat and were outscored 18-3 by the fast-breaking Vets. A dozen of Vets' points came from the free-throw line, while Aces made good on only one foul shot in the entire game.

In the final game of the two-team juvenile boys' circuit, St. Louis College recorded its eighth straight victory over Vampires, 39-34, although Neilson Hughes scored 20 points for the losers.

In bantam boys' action, St. Louis College dropped its 11th straight, bowing to First United 42-28.

SECOND LOSS
At Victoria High School, Scott & Peden went on a full-scale scoring riot to send Dickinson & Dunn reeling to its second loss of the year by a 71-45 margin in the final game of the year in the Junior Men's League. Dickinson & Dunn finished the schedule two points ahead of the feedmen whom they will meet in a best-of-three series for the city title.

Barry Jackson and Roger Windle were the top snipers for the winners with 16 and 14 points each, while Len Anderson and Bill Hampton had 11 each. Top man for Dickinson & Dunn was Jack Shields with 14 points. In the windup game of the

Anglers to Meet Tonight

Election of officers, reading of reports and presentation of trophies and life memberships will be the main items of the agenda when the Victoria Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association holds its annual general meeting tonight at Club Sirocco at 8.

All members are urged to attend as several important amendments are proposed for the association-by-laws.

Brentwood Site Of Four Games

McMorris and Brentwood juvenile girls will tangle Saturday in the feature contest of a four-game card in the Saanich and Suburban Basketball League at Brentwood.

Saanichton and Brentwood will meet in biddy boys, bantam girls and bantam boys' contests to complete the card.

It doesn't take much for Jim to recall, such men as Frank McGee, Charlie Drinkwater, Mike Grant, St. Grifis, Harry Trithey, Billy Hewitt and many others. He knew most of them.

He started playing organized hockey in 1885—claimed to be the first year an organized hockey league was formed in the country. He was a defenseman for the old Athletics Club of Kingston and in 1897 he called it quits four years after he married Ethel Mary Metcalfe.

Cats Fail at Seattle

Bombers Extend Unbeaten Streak

Seattle 7, Victoria 5

Edmonton 6, New Westminster 3

One streak and one trend were kept alive Wednesday night in two distant Western Hockey League centres. The streak, Seattle Bombers' phenomenal success on their home ice, was extended as Bombers clubbed Victoria Cougars 7-5 for their 15th straight undefeated game on home ice.

The trend was the losing habit of New Westminster Royals who bowed 6-3 to Edmonton Flyers at Edmonton, Royals' owner, Ken McKenzie, who has assumed the coaching job since the departure of Babe Pratt, was unable to shake his players of their losing habit. It was Royals' second straight loss under McKenzie's bench direction.

HEBENTON GETS THREE

At Seattle, Andy Heberton carried Cougars for two periods as he scored three goals. However, Seattle exploded and Cougars wilted in the third period, Seattle outscoring the cats three goals to one to take the decision.

Two of Heberton's goals and one by Dougie Anderson gave Cougars a 3-3 tie after the first period, Rudy Filion, Joe Bell and George Homenuke scoring for Seattle.

Heberton finished his hat trick to start the second period and give Cougars the lead again but Homenuke got his second goal to leave it square at 4-4 as the third frame opened.

Ray Manson, Doug Macaulay and Bell scored three in a row for Seattle in 15 minutes of the last period to ice the contest. Joe Evans fired Cougars' last argument.

Cougars were again without defenseman Ernie Roche, the hard-working team captain still being side-lined with influenza.

FLYERS HOT

Flyers, who lost only one of their last 11 games, came from behind a 1-0 deficit after the first period, went ahead 3-2 after the second period and finished it off with three goals in the last period.

Thunderbird On Mat Card

Victoria's mat hero, Chief Thunderbird, will meet Mike Alfano in the semi-main event promoter Ken Williamson's three-hour wrestling card at the Victoria Ballroom tonight.

Ivan Kamaroff and Buddy Curtis will match holds in the main event while Rex Gordon meets Dick Hayes in the curtain raiser at 8:30.

Hemmerling Out

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Erhard Ott Heller, 42, veteran of 24 years in professional hockey, has been named coach of New Haven Nutmegs of the Eastern Hockey League.

He succeeds Tony Hemmerling.

Gallant Focal Point Of City Puck Meeting

Concerned over the inclination towards rough play in recent games, the Commercial Hockey League executive will hold a special meeting Sunday morning in an effort to nip the trend before it grows.

Specifically the meeting is called to investigate the attack by Individual Cleaners' Jimmy Gallant on referee Leo Ornest Monday night, but officials hope to crack down on rough play as it affects the league in general.

The management of the Cleaners' team has been asked matters but Gallant's case will be in the hands of the executive alone.

NEW YORK (AP)—Dizzy Dean, the last major leaguer to win 30 games, and Al Simmons, a 20-year man with a .334 lifetime batting average, are the 1953 additions to baseball's Hall of Fame.

Once again Bill Terry, former New York Giants' manager—first baseman, just missed election by the 10-year veterans of the Baseball Writers' Association. Memphis Bill lost out by seven votes.

Joe DiMaggio, believed a sure thing to make the grade in his first year of eligibility, didn't even come close. The retired Yankee clipper finished eighth, short 81 votes.

Election of Dean and Simmons raises the membership to 64, of whom 27 have been picked by the writers.

A special committee headed by Clark Griffith, Washington owner, selects the old-timers not active in the last 25 years.

Dean drew an impressive 209 votes, moving past Terry whom he trailed in last year's voting. Simmons, also behind Terry in 1952, scraped home by one vote with a total of 199.

It's pretty doggone nice for an old Arkansas cotton picker to be up there with those boys," Dean drawled when he heard the news. Simmons, reached at Hialeah race track, chuckled that "it's my lucky day—I just had three straight winners in the races."

SIX-YEAR STAR

The colorful Dean, a radio and television personality since arm trouble forced him out of baseball, was a six-year star with St. Louis Cardinals. In 1934 he had a 30-7 record for the Cards with Diz and his brother, Paul, practically pitching St. Louis to a pennant and the world championship.

Each of the four teams in the league will play the others twice with Mount View using S. J. Willis Junior High as their home court.

Inter-High Cagers Open Season Friday

Two games are on tap in the Inter-High School Senior Boys' Basketball League when the hoop opens activities Friday.

HOCKEY HALL OF FAME

'Big Jim'—An Institution

This is the last of a series on Kingston's hockey Hall of Fame.

By JIM BASTABLE
KINGSTON, Ont. (CP)—Big Jim Sutherland, one-time travelling shoe salesman, gave hockey the idea for a priceless memorial because he was curious about baseball.

A huge, white-haired figure, Sutherland had been selling shoes nearly 60 years when he created the international hockey Hall of Fame in 1943 to honor hockey's greats and the men who made the game possible.

Hockey has been Jim's life for most of his 83 years. He talks hockey. He dreams hockey. He has great hopes for it, too.

The square-shouldered 200-pounder has been mixed up in the game so long he's almost an institution. While his 83-year-old wife collects antiques, Jim stores up hockey mementoes.

He is one of the pillars upon which amateur hockey was built in the country. He was a gangling defenseman playing organized hockey 67 years ago when some of the hall's immortals were hockey fledglings; when nets were unheard of, upright posts served as a goal and goal judges signalled scores by upraised arms.

Big Jim, now on a pension, has treasured memories and a firm belief that the Hall of Fame will soon be reality. He envisioned it when he visited baseball's shrine at Cooperstown, N.Y., "just out of curiosity to see what it was like."

Sutherland was born in Kingston October 10, 1870, and the flame of his love for the game burns as brightly as ever.

It doesn't take much for Jim to recall, such men as Frank McGee, Charlie Drinkwater, Mike Grant, St. Grifis, Harry Trithey, Billy Hewitt and many others. He knew most of them.

He started playing organized hockey in 1885—claimed to be the first year an organized hockey league was formed in the country. He was a defenseman for the old Athletics Club of Kingston and in 1897 he called it quits four years after he married Ethel Mary Metcalfe.

Habs Blank Leafs

McNeil, Geoffrion In Starring Roles

Tough, but oh so gentle, is Bernie Boom Boom Geoffrion.

The burly forward with Montreal Canadiens used just a neat little flick of his stick Wednesday night to blank the Maple Leafs 1-0 in Toronto in the only National Hockey League action of the night.

The win settled the Habits firmly in second place, three points behind Detroit Red Wings and four ahead of Chicago Black Hawks. Toronto stayed in fourth spot.

The goal was Geoffrion's 18th this season. He rapped in 30 a year ago when he won the rookie award. Goalsie Gerry McNeil now has allowed seven goals in the last six games.

New York goalie Chuck Rayner is still on the limp with a knee injury.

Meanwhile, Jack Adams, Detroit manager, continues to smoulder over the fued stirred up when coach Dick Irvin of Montreal charged that Adams entered the officials' dressing room during a Canadiens-Red Wings encounter in Detroit last Sunday. Such action is a violation of league rules.

Adams bounced back with the charge that Maurice Rocket Richard deliberately injured Red Wings players during the teams' two-game series last week-end. Richard denied the charge but said:

"I hate the Detroit club. I just got mad and took a run at everybody."

The New York-Detroit game tonight will see another graduate of Guelph Biltmores, last year's Memorial Cup champions, up with the parent club. Aldo Guidolin, a Guelph boy, apparently has performed well enough to please Rangers manager, Frank Boucher.

O'DELL DECLINES TO DISCLOSE GRID PLANS

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—Howie Odell declined comment Wednesday on published reports he'll fight his pending ouster as football coach at the University of Washington.

"I've done no maneuvering at all in my own behalf on this and the only thing I know about it is what I read in the papers," he said.

The Seattle Post-Intelligencer said Odell probably will go before the university board of regents Saturday to explain "personal differences" with athletic director Harvey Cassill.

Asked if he would appear before the board, Odell said: "I have no comment on that. I haven't made up my mind." Cassill has recommended that Odell not be retained as football coach.

Ken Murray Romps To Road Race Win

Mount View High School's galloping ghost, Ken Murray, breezed past all opposition Wednesday to capture the three-mile invitational race between Mount View and Victoria High School.

Victoria High School kept their undefeated skein intact by placing the next 10 runners behind Murray.

Road Race Officials Plan Improved Event

One of Victoria's oldest and at one time, most popular sports—road racing, will gain its former popularity if officials of the Canadian Legion sponsored Good Friday events have their way about it.

Officials are endeavoring to stimulate interest in the sport that petered out when faster and more spectacular sports gained prominence.

Accent will be on building up the junior 1 1/2 and the 2 1/2-mile events while the gruelling 10-mile grind will continue to be the feature attraction.

Fred Loeffler, last year's winner will be a definite starter in the 10-mile race this year, as will Gordon Hartley, who has given the Vancouver, veteran his stiffest competition. Wally Strang, Vancouver's ace marathoner is rumored to be competing also.

Loeffler has been training steadily with the aim of making the 1954 Empire Games in the marathon events. Hartley, who threatens to retire after this race, has also been training.

Minor Hockey

Paced by the two-goal effort of Larry McPherson, Cubs downed Capitals, 5-3, in a recent bantam division minor hockey game.

Next games for the bantam league is set for Saturday at 8 when Bruins and Capitals tangle. Cubs and Maroons meet one hour later. Royals and Senators meet Tuesday at 7 a.m.

Curling Tips

By BONSPIELER

This is the thirteenth in a series dealing with the fine points of curling, written by a man who is well versed in the game that is growing in interest on Vancouver Island.

Slide? How Far?

The farther out you slide in delivering a rock, the greater you run the risk of drifting off the line of delivery. Let me recall again the imaginary line from the top of the backswing to the broom at the other end of the ice, at which you are aiming. A slider goes anywhere from five feet to 40 feet along this imaginary line before he releases the handle of the stone. Doesn't it seem reasonable then, that the farther you slide the more danger there is of getting off the line? And every time you get off the line you will have broom trouble. It matters not how far you slide AFTER you release the handle, because you can do no harm to the path the rock has taken but you can do a lot of damage to a good backswing between the time the stone hits the ice on the forward swing and the time you release the handle.

It is during this period that two things can happen to get your stone off line:

(1) In sliding, your body may drift to the right, and because you have a hold on the handle, the stone is pulled off line too.

(2) In releasing the handle, if you give it a twist or push you may alter the direction of the stone.

The simplest solution to avoid all these diseases is to swing the stone at the broom, release the handle in the same motion, then follow through with a slide after the rock is on its way.

A long slide is in for a lot of trouble unless he has exceptional balance and good rudder control with his right foot to keep his body directly in line behind his stone during the entire course of delivery. In my own case, my rock in delivery usually touches the ice just behind the 12-foot ring, and the handle is released, depending on the ice surface, between the tee-line and the front ring.

Navy Entry Ruled Out of Rugby Union

One game is scheduled for the Victoria Rugby Union's first division for Saturday.

Oak Bay Wanderers will meet Crusaders on the upper pitch at Macdonald Park at 2:30.

JBAA and Navy will tangle in an exhibition first division game on the lower field.

Two games are scheduled for the second division.

Victoria College and University School will tangle on the latter's grounds, while Wanderers-Crusaders meet JBAA at Windsor Park. Both games are at 2:30.

Union officials Wednesday decided not to count Navy's entry into the league, so last week's game between Navy and Crusaders is officially listed as an exhibition and Crusaders' two points will not count in league standings.

Revised standings follow:

JBAA	W	L	T	P	A	Pts
Wanderers	2	2	0	104	47	15
Crusaders	2	4	1	119	67	15
Vikings	1	7	3	53	108	9

Cary's Divot Digging Pays Off Dividends

NEW YORK (UP)—Dr. Cary Middlecoff, the one-time Memphis molar mender, can rest assured today that he made a wise choice when he switched from drills to divots.

Figures revealed by the Professional Golfers' Association disclose that the slim doctor is just about the most consistent winner on the fairways these days... and that old-timers like 40-year-old Sam Snead and 38-year-old Lloyd Mangrum and Jim Ferrier still are handy fellows at lining their wallets with a wedge.

From a casual inspection of the money winning records you might get the idea that the youngsters have taken over. For Julius Boros led last season with $37,032 and, at 32, is considered one of golf's children. Middlecoff, also 32, was second, with 30-year-old Jackie Burke third.

But Boros had a hot streak, winning the U.S. Open and the $25,000 "world" title. Whether he continues remains to be seen.

On a two-year average, Middlecoff, who once threatened to give himself "just six months more before I go back to dentistry," is the two-year average leader at the cashier's window... and second only to Mangrum over a five-year period.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

I have been feeling a little rocky this week, and have been inclined to blame it on a form of "flu." But my Favorite Wife says no, it isn't the flu, it's just that I've picked up some germs.

She says I shouldn't sit around being sorry for myself. She says the best thing for germs is exercise.

That is all very well, but how do I get the germs to exercise?

(I know that is a very old joke, but then, I am a very old man—especially this week.)

I see there is a possibility that the aching feet of beer parlor waiters will be eased by the introduction of double-sized glasses.

I am all in favor of any plan which cuts down on the amount of work done by any person. Therefore, couldn't we carry this a step further, and have double-double sized glasses?

Or double-triples and quadruples?

Or, better still, direct pipelines to each table, so the waiters wouldn't need to walk at all.

What this country needs is a little more imaginative efficiency.

The Reader's Digest, apparently resigned to having its excellent "fillers" stolen by nefarious characters such as me, now sends out a press release, carrying some of the short items, with full permission to reprint.

This is a commendable generous gesture on the part of the Reader's Digest. As a publication which lives by reprinting things from other publications, it recognizes the need of columnists and disc jockeys who, their own brains barren, are forced to steal from the Reader's Digest because it is unprofitable to steal from each other.

The Reader's Digest's action is also understandable, due to the fact that the Digest is the biggest literary thief of all.

The only difference between the Reader's Digest and (for instance) me, is the Reader's Digest pays for everything it steals.

Perhaps you can guess where this came from:

A lawyer in Albuquerque, New Mexico, was paying his very efficient secretary $170 a month. Albuquerque hasn't enough good secretaries to supply the demand, so in order to keep her services, he raised her to $225 a month.

At this point, the Federal Government's Wage Stabilization Board stepped in and told the lawyer he could not raise her above $190 a month, so he reduced the salary accordingly.

Shortly afterward, the secretary quit her job, went to work for the Stabilization Board for $250 a month.

You know why I like that little story?

I like to think of what may happen when it appears in the Reader's Digest, which has millions (or is it billions?) of readers, including enough secretaries and would-be secretaries to staff the Pentagon.

Hit for the hurricane cellars, Albuquerque—the gals are on their way!

Government Sponsors Road Safety Campaign

Automobile Association Enlisted For Economical Community Effort

A renewed campaign against the rising toll of traffic mishaps in British Columbia was announced today by Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

He reported formation of a Federation of Traffic Safety Councils under government sponsorship but operated by the B.C. Automobile Association.

The new organization's objectives will be:

1. To integrate the efforts of existing traffic safety councils in communities throughout B.C.
2. To encourage formation of additional traffic safety councils.
3. To achieve uniformity in traffic safety work in the province.

Mr. Bonner's announcement followed a recent meeting with Harry Duker, BCAA president, and Frank Bird, secretary-manager.

"We are not accustomed to signalling where I come from," "It doesn't make any difference if you are accustomed to it or not," replied Magistrate H. C. Hall.

Gas Poisoning Deaths Here Bring Call for Regulations

City Manager Says Fast Action Must Be Taken

Victoria must take fast "remedial action" to cut the number of accidental gas poisoning deaths, City Manager Cecil Wyatt said today.

At the present time Victoria has no effective, enforceable regulations with regard to gas installations.

A city gas installation and regulation by-law drafted to overcome this, was left in abeyance pending the outcome of a proposed provincial gas act.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE

Mr. Wyatt concurred with a report submitted by Plumbing Inspector P. S. Ballam that a special civic committee be set up to study and prepare a gas code within the scope of a proposed new province-wide Gas Act.

"We are naturally concerned over the growing number of gas poisoning deaths," Mr. Wyatt said.

Mr. Ballam submitted the report after attending a meeting in Vancouver Monday which considered a proposed bill to the Legislature for a gas act.

The Vancouver meeting learned that San Francisco bans the use of gas appliances in rooms where persons sleep. A special civic committee has recommended a similar ban in Vancouver.

Some officials here believe it is the chief reason for a low gas rate death in the California city, but state such prohibition is a matter of council policy.

NO TEETH

At the present time both the Victoria building and fire prevention by-laws contain references to gas installations but no mention of administration. They call for tests, but do not state by whom or how they are to be given. The regulations are considered ineffective.

In the meantime, the increase in the number of deaths from gas poisoning in Victoria and Vancouver has spurred the B.C. gas industry to seek a safety device for gas stoves.

This was disclosed by a gas company official following a report that more people died from gas poisoning than in traffic accidents in Victoria last year.

Deaths from gas poisoning in 1952 totaled 10, of which five were suicides. The accidental death toll so far this year is two. Traffic toll in 1952 was six.

In view of the alarming increase in gas deaths, a B.C. company official said the firm is investigating a report from Vancouver that a man had invented an automatic shut-off for gas stoves.

"We are interested in any practical device for gas stoves," he said.

The Canadian Gas Association is also reported to be seeking a safety gas device and are prepared to investigate any invention of this type.

Meanwhile, recommendation is expected to be made to the city council calling for a stepped-up enforcement campaign aimed at faulty and illegal gas equipment installations.

A coroner's jury which inquired into the death of two elderly women last week, drew attention for the need for strict regulations with regard to gas stoves. It recommended an annual inspection of all domestic gas installations.

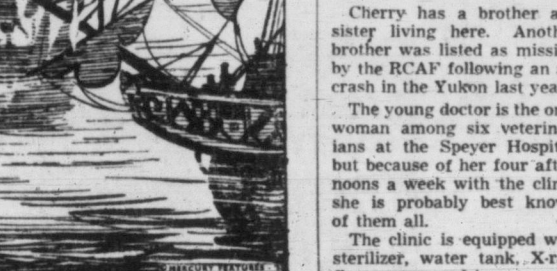

Coroner E. C. Hart said the chief danger of gas poisoning came from gas plates in apartments. "In former days there were not so many gas accidents because there were fewer gas facilities in use," he said.

MAN LAUGHED AS FRIGHTENED CHILD FLED

Twelve-year-old Marian Atkin, 464 Stanner, sought refuge in the home of Harry Marston, 450 Arnold, at 8:16 p.m. Wednesday when she was frightened by a man.

The girl told police she was walking east on Richardson between Arnold and Stannard when she saw a man who pointed something at her. She wasn't sure whether it was a stick or a rifle.

As she ran into the Marston home she said she heard the man laugh.

BIGGER CITIES FARE BETTER

Comparative figures on gas poisoning deaths in San Francisco, Vancouver and Victoria in 1952 reveal:

San Francisco with a population of about 750,000 had 13 gas deaths including suicides.

Vancouver with about 350,000 population had 115 deaths, of which 59 were accidental. Victoria with a population of 51,000 had 10 gas deaths of which five were accidental.

Lawsuit Over School Sale Nearing End

A two-day hearing of a legal dispute between a Victoria real estate man and an Edmonton business man involving sale of a school was scheduled to conclude in B.C. Supreme Court today.

Lawyers for both sides spent this afternoon summing up their cases for presiding judge, Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane.

Realtor Thomas G. Rayfuse is seeking a court order to have Thomas E. Mugleston, of Edmonton, go through with an agreement for sale made between the two parties last September. The agreement provided that Mugleston should buy Strathcona Lodge School at Shawinigan Lake for $31,500.

He paid $500 down and was to have paid the balance in two instalments.

Mugleston subsequently decided, however, that he did not want the property and served notice on Rayfuse to this effect. He was willing to lose the $500, which he considered was "option money" to be applied to the price only if the deal went through.

Rayfuse, however, claims the agreement signed by Mugleston in September was a final agreement of sale and that he is bound by it.

In view of the number of past cases cited by lawyers for both sides during the course of argument, Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane is expected to reserve judgment in the matter.

Search Continues For Car Which Hit Woman Pedestrian

Search was continuing today for a car which knocked down and injured 27-year-old Yvonne Paterson, 645 Ardnersier, at Ardnersier and Douglas, Wednesday afternoon. The driver did not stop to give aid to the injured woman.

The woman was hit at about 1:35 p.m.

Sanich police are appealing to any person who has any information concerning the accident to contact them immediately.

Miss Paterson was thrown into a ditch by the impact. She suffered abrasions and a cut to the right knee, but was not admitted to hospital.

Police said the car was a late model grey sedan.

Alberni Mayor's Case Next on Appeal List

A case in which the mayor of Alberni is the principal is scheduled next before B.C. Court of Appeal at its current sitting in Victoria.

The Crown is appealing a decision by Judge J. B. Boyd, of Alberni County Court, who last December 6 ruled that he could not consider an appeal against the dismissal of an "impaired driving" charge brought against Mayor Benjamin Wright.

Mayor Wright was charged by RCMP with driving while his ability was impaired by alcohol on August 31, 1952. He came before Magistrate T. M. Patterson who dismissed the charge on September 8, 1952.

The Crown decided to appeal but was unable to locate Mayor Wright to serve him with the notice of appeal before 10:47 p.m. on October 8, 1952. Police served him then at Vernon, where he was attending a convention.

Judge Boyd refused to hear the appeal after counsel put forward the argument that the notice of appeal had not been served within the 30 days allowed by the Criminal Code.

Should B.C. Court of Appeal allow the present appeal, the case would be referred back to the county court judge who would have to hear the original appeal.

H. C. K. Housser is acting for the Crown. A. G. McCulloch represents Mayor Wright.

Appeal on Rape Conviction Heard

Appeal against conviction and sentence of Vancouver fisherman Norman R. Pollard, 26, on a charge of rape, went into its second day before B.C. Court of Appeal today but was scheduled to conclude before evening.

Pollard was convicted by an all-male jury which sat in the 1952 Fall Assize Court in Vancouver. He was sentenced by Mr. Justice A. M. Manson to a four-year prison term.

Province Frames Protective Plan For Gas Consumer

A B.C. government "Gas Act," which will lay down specific regulations covering gas installations and appliances, is being framed in anticipation of more general use of natural gas on completion of a pipeline from Alberta.

This was learned today from a government official who said the new act will not likely be presented to the coming session of the legislature, but will be submitted to the next Union of B.C. Municipalities Convention for approval. The act will then go to the 1954 session.

B.C. now has no gas act, but numerous municipalities have their own by-laws.

The Public Works Department, which is drawing up the new act, hopes the municipalities will accept the provincial act and scrap their own by-laws. In this way, the provincial act would be "all-embracing" and present uniform regulations.

Led to Tips for You!

By PENNY SAVER

I received a delightful surprise in the mail this morning. A representative for the "door to door" sale of soft plastics had sent me a large 50-ounce canister along with a small seal-tight tumbler on which was typed this little poem:

"To keep your mustard fresh and hot
Just put it in this little pot.
The tumbler never cracks or leaks
Keeps it fresh for weeks and weeks."

I gave the product the once over and decided I'd better give this thoughtful person a call and see what else she could tell me about the plastic ware she was selling.

She first of all related the uses for the 50-ounce canister. "Try it for fruit juice," she said. "No vitamins will be lost when stored in our seal-tight containers."

She went on to say, "Many use it to store baby formula and milk. It will also keep celery crisp for weeks. Of course, it's wonderful for picnics and traveling, too."

The representative told me that this canister was only one of many polyethylene products. "We have many sized canisters, bowls and tumblers."

During the conversation I learnt this product is often introduced through the home party plan.

These parties, or demonstrations, are put on by housewives in the evenings as a rule and, I was told, they are a wonderful way for a busy housewife to make a few extra pennies for themselves to help make ends meet.

All these goods formerly were imported from the States, but there is now a factory in Quebec.

Just before I finished talking to the representative I got some prices for you:

Canisters are priced from 95 pennies; bread and butter plates, 30 cents; peppers and shakers, 50 cents a pair; cream and sugar, 85 cents each; toothbrush holder, 30 cents; bread box, $3.65; soap box, 35 cents; cake saver, $3.95, and tumblers from 10 to 35 cents.

The 50-ounce canister is $1.65 and the mustard tumbler is 10 pennies with seal-tight lid priced at 8 cents.

The ware comes in frosted white and pastel colors.

Teenager Resents Her Mother's Husband-To-Be

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

The position of step-parents is a different one for all concerned. This can be improved by settling matters relating to the stepchildren before marriage. That is the advice I am giving the man who writes:

Hurlock

(Q)—"I am engaged to a divorcee with a teenage daughter. I am very much in love with the mother but the daughter seems to resent me and to go out of her way to make things unpleasant for me. Her mother sides with her in any argument and says that, because I have never had any children, I don't know how to handle children. Her former husband has remarried and gives the mother nothing for the support of this girl. I feel that if I am to support her I should have some say about the way she behaves and should expect her to be reasonably polite to me. Am I wrong about this?"

(A)—You have every right to expect your stepdaughter to be "reasonably polite" to you and even more, if she is living in your home and being supported by you. You cannot, however, expect too much from her if the mother continues to feel as she does about your relationship with her daughter.

If you are wise and want to avoid a lot of trouble for yourself in the future, you will get this matter straightened out now. Once you are married, it will be too late.

Talk over the whole matter with your fiancée and try to show her that it is not fair to you to have her daughter treat you as an intruder. She must realize that no man wants to be treated that way in his own home and by a person he is making personal sacrifices for.

If she feels that you are wrong, then the only thing you can do is to break your engagement unless she is willing to have the daughter live with her father. This might not be possible as the father's new wife may not want to have her living with them.

Don't go ahead with the marriage in the hope that things will work out after you are married. They may but it is taking a big chance. It would be far better to settle this matter now, once and for all.

Elizabeth Hurlock is one of the nation's great psychologists, and she will gladly help you with personal problems.

TODAY'S RECIPE

BAKED SOLE SAUTERNE

One pound file of sole, salt, 2 green onions, 1 cup Sauterne wine, 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, 1 tablespoon flour, dash cayenne pepper, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, 1/2 cup ripe olives, 2 teaspoons lemon juice.

Sprinkle fish with salt and arrange in greased shallow baking dish. Chop onions and sprinkle over fish. Add wine and bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) 15 minutes. Melt butter and blend in flour, cayenne and salt to taste. Drain wine off fish into butter and flour mixture, and cook and stir over hot water until thickened. Add parsley, olives cut from pits into small pieces and lemon juice. Pour sauce over fish. Serve four.

Don't Analyze Too Closely;
Might Lose Your Balance

I think you will enjoy the following rhyme:

The centipede was happy quite
Until the frog for fun asked,
"Which leg comes after which?"

It gave him such a fright
And raised his mind to such a pitch
That he lay distracted in a ditch.

Not knowing how to run.
While knowledge of self and self-analysis and introspection are essentials to the well-balanced personality which is to improve and progress, yet too much of these can throw one of balance and completely confuse one.

Many persons think of their every emotion and reaction as

Have you ever tried using grated raw parsnip in a salad or appetizer? For a delicious appetizer we like to combine 1/2 cup coarsely grated parsnip with 1/4 cup thinly sliced celery, and 1/4 cup ripe olives cut from their pits into larger pieces. Over this serve a sauce made of 1/4 cup catsup and one teaspoon chili sauce with accents of lemon juice, horseradish and Tabasco sauce.

unusual when it is universal. They analyze themselves into a state of prostration and, because of such a keen consciousness of self, their smooth performance is inhibited.

People worry about the future—about how they are going to get where they want to go, without realizing that the steps they are taking at the time are the most important ones. I have found that walking as well as one can at the time, with two or a thousand legs, seems to be the best policy. Of course the more legs one has the better, unless too many are confusing.

This is just what often happens to people who have an avid love of life, many talents and interests, and varied sparkling facets to their nature. They are interested in so many things that they never do any one of them in an outstanding way. I am not at all certain that this is an unhappy state.

Unless you naturally, and of necessity, put one foot further ahead than the other perhaps a generally smooth walk in which you use all of your legs, is happiest.

Many folks who have achieved success because of a flair or a talent make the mistake of trying to analyze the reason for their success. In the process they often lose their nerve.

Walk with all of your legs as you naturally do, without too much thought as to how you do it.

Bringing Up Baby is one of the most fascinating jobs in the world... and certainly one of the most important. It's a real thrill to watch baby grow healthy and strong—and he does it with enthusiasm when you moisten 5 Minute "CREAM OF WHEAT" an important part of his diet. Um-hmm—babies love it—and it loves babies! You see, it's brimful of lots of good things babies need to keep going—and growing! It provides iron for good red blood, and Calcium and Phosphorus for diets deficient in these elements. And, mothers!—5 Minute "Cream of Wheat" is so quick and simple to prepare. Just five minutes of boiling and it's cooked to baby-ready digestibility... sm-o-o-th and tempting!

Their Good Taste speaks for itself. It tells you—deliciously—that Heinz Condensed Soups are the pick of the lot. And hundreds of people, dozens of recent taste tests, have tasted and agreed. Yes, the whole family of Heinz Soups rated top marks with dietitians, young folks, meat factory workers and housewives. And I'm willing to bet my new Spring bonnet that a taste-test in your own home will result in a similar verdict. Simply heat a tin of, say HEINZ CONDENSED VEGETABLE SOUP (a delicious choice!)—and a tin of any other brand. Serve half-helpings of each. Then take a vote. Bet it will be Heinz, 2 to 1!

There's Something about a real home-made cake that can't be equalled. I know our family go into raptures over the fluffy, tender cakes I make. They can't seem to get enough of them. Of course, my secret is SWANS DOWN CAKE FLOUR. No other flour, no cake mix, can make cakes the way Swans Down does. You see, Swans Down is especially made for better cake making. Milled by experts from the finest of soft winter wheat, Swans Down makes prize cakes, every time. You too can enjoy the satisfaction of better cakes, with Swans Down—it is sifted again and again until 27 times as fine as ordinary flour. Grand recipes on the package!

Is This Your Experience, Too? I find that putting money away, hard as it is, is not the most difficult thing about saving. The tough part is leaving it alone afterwards! It's so easy to dip into your savings when you want that new dress very badly. And then where are you? You're faced with the problem of replacing those savings! And, if you're like me, you'll find that hard to do. But Personal Planning (that's the Bank of Montreal's system of family-financing) has shown me not only how to build up my savings but how to keep them intact once I have them. You see, Personal Planning convinced me that it's very often better money-management to borrow against my savings than to spend them! Then, when I've paid off my B of M Personal Loan, I'll still have my savings nest-egg. Why not look into the question of a low-cost B of M Loan next time you feel like digging down elbow-deep into your savings? Ask for your free copy of Personal Planning at your neighborhood BANK OF MONTREAL... and you'll find out how you can save—and keep—more of your hard-earned dollars from now on.

Coffee Party Enjoyed

Members of the Soroptimist Club entertained at a coffee party last Tuesday evening at Oak Bay Beach Hotel. Special guests were Mrs. E. O. Coulter, Port Alberni; Mrs. Georgia Parks, Mrs. F. B. Smith and Misses Isabel and Betsy Miller. Guest speaker was Mrs. Norma MacDonald, who told of her trips abroad and illustrated her talk with color slides of Scotland, England, France, Italy, Holland, Greece, Austria and Germany.

To Be Honored at Parties

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Harvey, Linden Avenue, will be hosts at a dinner party in their home on Saturday evening to honor Miss Roma Dorman and Mr. Richard Ellis Bais, whose marriage will take place early next month. Other guests will be Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Mearns and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Harris. Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Gillespie will also entertain this weekend in honor of the affianced couple. They will be hosts at a morning party in their Gordon Head home.

Visitors From Edmonton

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Champion arrived in Victoria earlier this week from their home in Edmonton for a short holiday. While here they are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Dick Thomson, who came recently from Edmonton to make their home in this city. En route home, Mr. and Mrs. Champion will visit friends in Vancouver.

Miss Wilda Cuthbert, bride-elect of this month, returned to the city last week-end after spending a few days in Seattle with her aunt, Mrs. P. A. Green.

Miss Kay Bird and Miss Shellagh Henderson of the Winnipeg Ballet, will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Craig, Verrinder Avenue, during their visit to the city.

The commanding officer and officers of HMCS Naden will be hosts at a cocktail party Saturday evening in Naden wardroom between 6 and 8 for officers of USS Burton Island.

A surprise shower was held at the home of Mrs. J. McCoy, Richmond Road, by Mrs. G. W. Pugh honoring her sister-in-law, Miss Marion Pugh, whose marriage to Mr. George Esplan takes place Saturday. The bride-elect and her mother were presented with corsages of chrysanthemums. Miss Pugh was the recipient of many lovely gifts including a miniature boat. Games were enjoyed and refreshments served. Guests were Miss Dorothy Morley and Mesdames V. Keatley, N. Vanesson, N. Hamilton, E. Pearson, M. Roberts, V. Kirchen, V. Belcher, G. White, Palmer, M. Burdon, E. Waldron, K. McCoy, K. Millard, S. Hele, P. Beech, R. Edwards, E. Pugh, E. Yuoritchuk.

At the tea hour Wednesday afternoon in the lounge at Oak Bay Beach Hotel, Mrs. Kenneth Boorman was hostess to 45 friends. Presiding at the attractive table were Mrs. Peter Whittlesey and Mrs. A. J. Burns, and assisting the hostess in serving her guests were Mrs. J. H. Todd, Mrs. Harry Gladwell and Mrs. George Wheaton.

A kitchen shower honoring Mrs. William Goff, a recent bride from Saskatoon, was given Wednesday evening by Mrs. John Wells at her home, Wellington Avenue. A dainty doll topped the box decorated in blue and white which contained the useful gifts presented by little Lyn Tupper. A corsage of pink carnations was presented to the bride. The guests were Mesdames Tom Smellie, Fred Tupper, C. W. Morrish, A. Rhodes, Misses Marion Taylor, Shirley Foster, Mary Damjanac, Kay Morrish, Dottie Wells and Dot Rudman. As a surprise for the groom, who celebrates his birthday today, a decorated cake was presented to him. Mr. and Mrs. Goff have recently come from Saskatoon to make their future home here.

CAC Meeting Will Feature Film on Home Decorating

Just in time for the spring decorating and general re-furbishing of homes will be the showing of a film "Designing Women" at a meeting of the Association of Canadian Consumers, Victoria Branch, to be held on Thursday, Jan. 29, at 8 p.m. in the Business and Professional Women's Club room, 902 Government Street. This film, dealing with interior decoration, has been issued by the National Art Gallery. There is no charge for admission; anyone interested may attend.

PTA NOTES

Monterey—A. Slocumb of Topographical Branch of Air Survey, showed members of Monterey PTA a film on surveying in northern British Columbia. Meeting passed a motion that a letter be sent to Reeve Gibbs, M.L.A., urging him to support passage in the house of the plans and estimates for new boys' industrial school to be built in Nanaimo. The old one, which is on the grounds of Essondale mental hospital is overcrowded and inadequate, making it almost impossible to prevent escapes or to carry out a rehabilitation program.

Fulford—It was decided at meeting of Fulford PTA, Salt Spring Island, to give a scholarship this year and to start raising funds for this project with a square and old-time dance on Jan. 31 in Fulford Community Hall. Mesdames F. L. Jackson, G. Huish and C. Kaye were named to convene the affair. Mrs. Jackson presided and it was announced that at the next meeting Miss Elizabeth Layton, public health nurse, will give a talk on her work in the north and show films.

Toastmistress Club Hears Speaker Urge Need of Using Franchise

The necessity of exercising the vote was proven in a speech by Mrs. P. Williams at meeting of Victoria Toastmistress Club, Mrs. Y. Devison gave the blessing followed by a welcome to members and guests from president Mrs. H. Simpson. Mrs. Y. Devison introduced a guest, Mrs. A. Rowe, and Mrs. Georgia Parks introduced Mrs. F. Smith. A toast to the Queen was proposed by Mrs. Simpson. Table topic mistress Mrs. I. Lehman asked members to give their impressions on the lighter side of why Valentine Day, Easter, Mother's Day, Victoria Day and Dominion Day are outstanding. Mrs. Alec Crowe, in her first assignment as toastmistress, proposed a toast to the "Staff of the Queen Alexandra Soratorium." Her program included Mrs. P. Williams, presentation of a rural by-law; Miss A. Harness, a colorful family of gems; Mrs. M. Wickham, magnificent giants; Mrs. I. Warren (impromptu) hope; Mrs. A. Pohl, the milk of human kindness; Mrs. B. Bayliss, the "oscar" to Mrs. A. Pohl.

Scottish Night

Britannia Lodge No. 216, LOBA, held a Scottish night at the last meeting when Grand Mistress Florence Noel presented each Scottish member with a gift and a corsage of heather. Mrs. Noel also installed Mrs. Lillian Stocker as director of ceremonies and Mrs. Alice Sadler as inner guard.

Mrs. Greta Lucas and Mrs. M. McAllister were named conveners of the annual bazaar. Bingo was played and refreshments served.

Colwood—Guest speaker at meeting of Colwood PTA was B. Swindell and his subject the money by-law. Arrangements were made to hold a tea at the home of Mrs. J. Snyder, "Casa Linda," Island Highway, on Jan. 28 from 2 until 5.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

By EDWIN JORDAN, MD

Seek Advice of Physician on Use of Childbirth Anaesthetic

Questions regarding childbirth are naturally of enormous interest to many women. Q—Many doctors seem to be giving the spinal for childbirth. Is it better than ether? H.B.Y. A—The subject of what should be used to lessen the pain of childbirth—or whether anything should be used at all—has been the subject of study and learned discussions for many years. Both spinal anesthesia and ether have been used successfully thousands—or perhaps millions—of times, as have other anesthetics or pain-reducing substances. Perhaps the method of anesthesia used at childbirth which is best is the one with which the physician in charge has had the most experience. It seems to me that questions of such a technical nature should be left to the physician and that the patient can do this safely if she has chosen one in whom she has confidence. Q—I understand that after a woman's tubes have been tied she can't have any more children, but my question is, can they be untied? Mrs. M. A—Attempts by surgery have been made to reopen the tubes or oviducts after they have been tied. If the original operation was carefully performed, these attempts are not usually very successful. Q—I am 77, and I think, owing to my age, feel insecure when walking. Otherwise, I am in good health. Is there something I can do about this? Mrs. O. A—This is unfortunately a common occurrence in many of the later years. In all probability, there is not much which can be done to relieve the situation, but you should be extremely careful not to fall. If your feeling of insecurity is too great, you should try to hold someone's arm when you walk, unless you can hold on to something else with your hands. Q—Will washing the hair every week cause it to fall out? A.B. A—No, although washing the hair will remove those hairs which have already separated from the scalp. If the amount of hair which comes out when washing seems too great, perhaps there is some scalp condition present which would benefit by expert treatment.

Israel's Premier Tool of U.S.-U.K. Charges Red Paper

BY EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW (AP)—A leading Soviet publication Wednesday blasted Israel's Premier David Ben-Gurion, Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett and the late President Chaim Weizmann as tools of Anglo-American imperialism. An editorial in the foreign affairs weekly New Times also charged the Zionists with supporting a policy to establish "bloody, fascist regimes permeated by a spirit of racial bigotry, including anti-Semitism." It was the most severe attack on Zionism yet to appear in the Soviet press. New Times also accused Israel of waging "a cruel war of destruction against the local Arab population in Palestine." It said that armed Zionist detachments seized land from the Arabs, expelled them into the desert and evicted them from factories. A police crackdown forced molesters into hiding temporarily last year when 24 cases were reported in late November and early December alone. Police said many other cases never were reported because the principals involved feared embarrassment. They added that six cases were reported Tuesday night, involving a housewife, two teenage girls and three younger children, including a boy. None was seriously harmed. Belgium is the most densely populated part of Europe with a population of 710 to the square mile.

Vancouver Fights More Hoodlumism

VANCOUVER (BUP)—An upsurge of molestations on dark Vancouver streets was reported by Vancouver police Wednesday raising the total number of these crimes this year to 18 reported to the authorities. A police crackdown forced molesters into hiding temporarily last year when 24 cases were reported in late November and early December alone. Police said many other cases never were reported because the principals involved feared embarrassment. They added that six cases were reported Tuesday night, involving a housewife, two teenage girls and three younger children, including a boy. None was seriously harmed. Belgium is the most densely populated part of Europe with a population of 710 to the square mile.

Mail From Men In Korea Burned

OTTAWA (BUP)—A shipment of mail bound from the 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade to Canada was damaged by fire last Saturday, army headquarters reported Tuesday. The army said 1,500 letters, one of them registered, and eight parcels were damaged when fire broke out on a postal vehicle en route from 1st Commonwealth Division headquarters to Seoul. The damaged items saved are being placed in new covers and forwarded with an explanatory letter, the army said, but added that "very few" of the recovered mail was identifiable. The mail was posted by Canadian soldiers in Korea on Jan. 16 and 17, the army said.

COURTENAY.—Kinsmen Club here has a quota of $1,000 for its 1953 polo fund, already well under way in the Comox district. Fund-raising events will include a dance and variety show in February, a bottle drive and mail campaign.

ALBERNI.—City council is considering drafting a by-law to assure coverage of damage caused to street surfaces by overloaded trucks by requiring truck operators to post a $300 bond before being allowed to haul logs through the city. The by-law was tabled at the last meeting while aldermen considered the problem of proving responsibility. Most damage is gradual, according to Ald. J. Luckhurst.

COURTENAY.—A clause in the city's new traffic by-law stating that the British national flag should be flown at the head of parades was questioned by Ald. W. C. Moore at a regular council meeting. He produced a copy of the order-in-council passed by the Mackenzie King government proclaiming the red ensign as the official Canadian flag.

CUMBERLAND.—Labor-Progressive Party candidate for Comox-Alberni federal constituency is W. S. E. Morrison, Parksville, former RCN commander discharged in 1945 after 21 years of divided service, and member of the Parksville village commission in 1947, '48 and '49. Delegates attended the Cumberland nominating conference from Alberni, Royston, Cumberland, Courtenay, Comox and Campbell River.

Federal Works Plan For Island Revealed

DUNCAN.—Federal public works projects to cost $118,000 are under consideration for 1953 and 1954, according to word received here from Major-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, MP. They are: Chemsinus breakwater construction, $34,000; Chemsinus float and wharf repairs, $200; Cowichan Bay wharf renewal, $67,000; Cowichan Lake wharf renewal, $17,000.

Great Sherlock Spoofed
By Sadler's Wells Ballet

LONDON (AP)—A new ballet spoofing Sherlock Holmes was greeted with delight by London reviewers today.

The work by Margaret Dale and Richard Arnell, was staged for the first time Wednesday night by the famous Sadler's Wells Company.

It is called "The Great Detective." Holmes' name never is mentioned. But there was no mistaking the character danced by Kenneth McMillan in a checkered duster and the famous deer-stalker cap.

When Holmes was offstage, McMillan leaped nimbly to the wrong side of the law and portrayed the evil Professor Moriarty, one man who could give Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's celebrated detective a run for his money.

The stage was strewn with corpses, festooned with leaping policemen and garnished with all the spies, poisonous snakes and such that any devotee of the Holmes legend has a right to expect.

Watson, the somewhat stuffy narrator of the Doyle stories, was turned into a nimble Victorian wolf as danced by Stanley Holden.

Drunk Driving Charge
SANTA MONICA, Calif.

(AP)—Actor John Agar, 31, was booked on suspicion of drunk driving early today after officers said he drove through a boulevard stop sign. It was the first arrest of Agar since October, 1951, when he completed a 60-day sentence on a similar charge. At that time he was placed on three year probation. Agar, former husband of Shirley Temple, now is married to former model Loretta Combs.

From Musical Associates

BY AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON
High honor was paid to a prominent piano and vocal teacher Wednesday by her associates of the British Columbia Music Teachers' Association, Victoria branch.

At a meeting of the YWCA, Miss Ethel James was presented with an active life membership in the association. The presentation was made by Reginald Cox, and took the form of a hand-illuminated scroll, the work of Victoria artist Esme Davis.

Miss James served as president of the Victoria branch for three years and during her term of office the biennial convention of Canadian music teachers' association was held in Victoria.

Prior to coming to this city from Winnipeg in 1933, she had an interesting career in England, where she was recognized on the London stage as the possessor of considerable dramatic talent and a lovely mezzo-soprano voice.

Miss James studied singing with Madame Blanche Marchesi and made her debut at the Adelphi Theatre in January, 1906. According to a caption, accompanying a photograph in Free Lance of that month: "Miss Ethel James made her debut as second singing fairy in 'Midsummer Night's Dream' at the Adelphi. Miss James has a beautiful contralto voice and when a tiny child was known in Wales (her birthplace) as 'The Little Welsh Nightingale.' She . . . does her teacher the greatest credit in this performance."

She continued to appear at the Adelphi, and was associated there with such celebrities as Oscar Asche, Lily Brayton, Matheson Lang and Genevieve Ward. Later she toured extensively, playing the lead in a light opera, "Miss Hook of Holland."

It was while so engaged that she was singled out for what she considers the outstanding honor of her life, receiving an invitation to appear at one of the great Welsh Eisteddfod concerts. Such invitations were given only to the greatest of singers of the United Kingdom.

Also, while appearing at the Lyceum, she received an invitation to sing at Covent Garden as one of the Rhinemaidens in Wagner's "Ring" cycle.

Advanced piano and organ studies were undertaken in Winnipeg, whither she went in 1913. In that city, she was resident teacher of piano and choir mistress at the Agricultural College and also held the position of organist in more than one church.

Since coming to Victoria, the third city to have the benefit of her fine talents and training, she has made her mark as a teacher and accompanist. In the latter capacity she has given generous and devoted service to the Victoria Musical Festival; she has been a consistent supporter of all the city's fine arts developments and a good and helpful friend to many young musicians.

WHERE'S OUR JILL?
LAC DU BONNET, Man. (C.P.I.)—Residents were surprised to see a large swan swimming on the Winnipeg river near here. The bird is almost unknown in this part of the province, and old-timers say they never see one in mid-winter.

Ballet Dancing as Recreation
Discussed By City Health Group

Place for ballet dancing in physical education was discussed by the Greater Victoria branch of the Canadian Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation at a Tuesday night meeting at the Pacific Club.

A film, "Steps of the Ballet," was shown for purposes of study.

At the next meeting, Dr. Henrietta Anderson will discuss with the group "Recreation and Its Place."

Easter Island, ancient Pacific isle 2,000 miles west of Chile, was discovered by Admiral Rogeeven on Easter Day, 1722.

Oak Bay Ready To Assist City Art Centre

Seeks Amendment To Municipal Act

Oak Bay moved to support financial aid to the Greater Victoria Art Centre Wednesday night.

Council unanimously called for amendments by private bill to section 177 of the Municipal Act which would enable grants to be made to the art centre by municipalities on a voluntary basis.

(Saenich and Esquimalt washed their hands of the matter Monday.)

NO METHOD MENTIONED

Wording of the Oak Bay resolution does not specify that the petitioning action should be taken through the Union of B.C. Municipalities.

City clerk A. D. Findlay pointed out to Oak Bay Reeve P. A. Gibbs that the UBCM had ruled that all requests for government action should be channelled through the union.

"Let's try the minister first," said the reeve.

"You may get the UBCM on your neck," warned Mr. Findlay.

Frank Clair to Have Hands Full

TORONTO (CP) — Coach Frank Clair of Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four Football Union was given a new contract Wednesday night calling for a full-time job and a raise in salary.

It is understood his new duties will include taking charge of the club's new offices, public relations work, showing films and contacting and signing players.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

The Annual Meeting of the members of the S.P.C.A. will be held in the Business and Professional Women's Club Room at 902 Government Street on Tuesday, February 3, 1953, at 8 p.m. This meeting is for the purpose of electing officers for 1953 and for the reading of the president's annual report.

As this will be an extremely important meeting, all members are urged to attend.

Please bring your membership cards with you for presentation at the door.

Labor's Advice Sought For Post-Grad Training

Advice of labor has been invited in the formation of a new course of study to be instituted at S. J. Willis Junior High School especially for students planning to leave school after completing Grade IX.

Bernard C. Gillie, principal, asked the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council to send a representative to a meeting to be held at the school Jan. 27.

Permission for the course has been granted by the department of education and the municipal inspector of schools.

"We want to plan a special and useful curriculum," Mr. Gillie wrote. He plans on starting the course in September of this year.

Percy Rayment, council secretary, was appointed to attend the meeting and report to the council.

Parrot Pullman

TOLEDO, O. (UP) — George L. McKesson, industrialist, recently bought a Spanish-speaking parrot in New York city. He took it with him to his bedroom on a train for Toledo, but the bird insisted on jabbering away instead of going decently to sleep as McKesson tried to do. Finally deciding "it was either the bird or me," McKesson bought another ticket and the parrot had its own bedroom for the rest of the trip.

Author Will Defend 'Tobacco Road'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Author Erskine Caldwell said today he will fly to Vancouver next week to help defend eight persons charged with staging an indecent performance of his play, "Tobacco Road."

The 51-year-old author said in a telephone interview from his home in Tucson, Ariz., that he would "certainly be a witness" when the case comes to court next Wednesday.

Flu Hits in Half of 48 States

NEW YORK (AP)—Flu—or what feels like flu—has spread into more than half the 48 states, but the outbreaks so far generally have been mild.

The U.S. Army, a state university, a steel company and some local officials have taken steps to combat the infections with influenza vaccine.

A country-wide survey by The Associated Press showed the bulk of the cases are in the central United States. Texas, Tennessee and Arkansas have been particularly hard hit.

Latest Rail Wage Talks Fail

TRUMAN HAD IKE'S SON HOME FOR DAD'S SHOW

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Who ordered Major John Eisenhower home from Korea to see his father inaugurated as President?

Today, The Chronicle's Washington correspondent reports:

Dwight Eisenhower learned the answer just before Tuesday's inauguration by asking President Truman: "Sir, may I ask you a question: Who ordered my boy home from Korea? He's been giving me hell about it."

"I did," Truman said. "I'm telling him that contrary old man in the White House did it."

The major was given 15 days' leave.

STRONG LIBERAL PLAN TO DRAFT SLOAN SEEN

CCF-er Named In Theft Charge

Printing Shop Employee Accused Of Stealing Famed Currie Report

MONTREAL (BUP)—Judge Rene Thibierge today issued a warrant for the arrest of Fred Hensler, a printing shop employee, on a charge of theft of an unedited copy of the Currie report.

The warrant was sworn out on the complaint of Clarence Lelievre, an employee of George S. Currie, partner in a Montreal accounting firm and author of the controversial report on irregularities in the army works service.

Hensler was reported to be an active member of the CCF party, whose national leader, M. J. Coldwell, admitted he saw the report before it was presented officially to the defense department.

The government had left the question of criminal prosecution up to either Currie or the printers, claiming that the report was not government property at the time of the alleged theft. Hensler's address was given as 362 Notre Dame Street West, which is the location of National Multigraphing & Printing. The warrant identified him as "Hensler, alias Fred, alias Loveday."

Increases per teacher range from $300 to about $1,000 per year, depending on their category.

T. Christie, Greater Victoria School Board secretary, remarked that the total teachers' payroll last year was approximately $1,700,000.

"We are also asking that the salary schedule be shortened," Mr. Swainson said today at an opening session of the board's sitting at the school board office.

"As a result of the economies instituted in the '30's, teachers reach the maximum point on their salary scales in 19 and 21 years. We would like that time shortened to 14 years," he said.

He said that in 1952, 63 out of the 77 schedules adopted in B.C. ranged over periods of from 12 to 15 years.

"Elsewhere scales are shorter," he said, remarking that the civil service maximum was reached in six years, the Victoria city hall in five to six years, and B.C. Electric over six to 10 years.

James Spillars, QCA president, said his firm has been notified of a federal order-in-council which provides for special financial support up to $125,000 if required.

The subsidy will help give Nanaimo, Comox and Powell River a minimum of two regular flights a day to Vancouver, three flights a week from Minster Island, Alert Bay, Sullivan Bay and Tofino to Vancouver and four flights a week on an other service taking in Tofino, Metchuak, Tahsis and Chamis Bay.

CHIEF JUSTICE GORDON MCG. SLOAN
... new Liberal leader?

Chief Justice Favored As New Party Leader

By GORDON FORBES, Times Legislative Reporter

A strong movement to persuade Chief Justice Gordon McG. Sloan to accept the leadership of the B.C. Liberal Party has developed among the rank and file of the party in the last 10 days.

Liberals will meet in Vancouver Feb. 27 and 28 to choose their new leader. The "grass roots" campaign to get Mr. Justice Sloan back into the political field has gathered impetus since the convention date was announced.

With another general election expected in May or June, the backbone membership in the Liberal ranks is determined to make a comeback after the reverses suffered in last June's general election when Liberal strength in the Legislature was cut from 26 to 6 members.

They believe the chief justice can lead the party back to a dominant position in the affairs of B.C.

With his wide background of the political history of the province, long association with public affairs, and great knowledge of both the industrial and labor picture, they think he would receive enormous public support.

If he will stand for leadership he is almost certain to get it unanimously, it is suggested.

Mr. Justice Sloan comes from a political family of B.C.—his father, the late William Sloan, was a cabinet minister, member of the Oliver Government.

Mr. Sloan himself was attorney-general of B.C. from 1933 to 1937 in the Pattullo Government.

His supporters for party leadership point out he would bring a comparatively youthful and energetic outlook to the provincial scene—he is only 54—bolstered by his wide background of experience.

He went to the Court of Appeal bench in 1937 and when he was appointed Chief Justice in 1944 was the youngest jurist to hold that post.

Since then his work has not been confined to the appeal court.

CD Official Warns Of Sabotage Danger

WINNIPEG (CP)—Alderman H. B. Scott said Wednesday night that if war with Russia breaks out there are 10,000 organized Communists in Red cells throughout Canada ready to sabotage defense efforts against Russia.

"If we are going to spend millions on defense let us know what we're defending ourselves against," he said. "Russia is the only nation in the foreseeable future we could be at war with. Then let's say so."

Civil defense programs should include anti-sabotage training, Ald. Scott said, and such "essential" utilities as power plants should be given immediate protection against fifth columnists.

"Top officials in Ottawa are highly concerned about the saboteur menace," he said, "but their hands are tied."

His informant, Ald. Scott said, claimed Canada has not the facilities to cope with saboteurs on the scale indicated, and nothing is being done to provide those facilities.

"The RCMP knows most of the Communists and their leaders," Ald. Scott said. "But our federal laws are so free and easy the RCMP can't do a thing."

His informant claimed the RCMP couldn't handle the situation alone if war broke out.

Ald. Scott said the civil defense course he attended was "very worthwhile." Lectures were "excellent," and the lecturers "very competent men," but the whole emphasis is on sneak bomb raids.

Winnipeg's metropolitan civil defense board wants to spend thousands of dollars on an air raid communications centre, he said, but saboteurs could put all Manitoba's power plants out of commission in minutes.

THE UNMENTIONABLES "What good would your communications centre be then?"

Lecturers in Ottawa, he said, talk "all-around Russia and

Outstanding Accomplishments

In 1945 he compiled the monumental report on the forest industry which brought about B.C.'s now famous plan of perpetual yield forestry, based on forest management—fore-runner of the huge development in pulp, cellulose and lumber operation of the last few years.

On two occasions he has investigated the complicated workmen's compensation system and his findings have been the basis for provincial laws covering this.

Another outstanding accomplishment has been his work in the labor-management field. Twice he has been called in to deal with disastrous strikes in the extensive coast logging industry, both of which he settled.

He also mediated a strike in the mining industry.

Because of these achievements he has the respect of labor and management.

In his capacity as official administrator, whenever the Lieutenant-Governor is absent the Chief Justice also has a close contact with day-to-day affairs of provincial administration.

The Bratislava newspaper Pravda bitterly attacked two former commissioners of the state of Slovakia, Laco Novomesky and Gen. Gustav Husak, who were arrested in 1951.

They were charged with crimes similar to Foreign Minister Vlado Clementis, who was hanged with 10 other top Communists December 3.

The nature of the newspaper attack made it appear that the Communist government is preparing a trial to include Novomesky, Husak and several other former Slovak Communist leaders known to be under arrest.

Whether the Chief Justice will accept probably will not be known until just before the convention. In fact, it may not be known until the day of the convention.

But whenever the decision is made, the "draft Sloan movement" is gathering momentum in a drive his supporters hope will reach a climax then.

Meanwhile, party workers are in Vancouver already making preliminary plans for the important party.

It is understood the party will abandon the lush Hotel Vancouver as a convention site, and will stage the meeting in the Denman Auditorium.

Nation Not Set For War

Winnipeg Alderman Fears 5th Column

WINNIPEG (CP)—Alderman H. B. Scott said Wednesday night that if war with Russia breaks out there are 10,000 organized Communists in Red cells throughout Canada ready to sabotage defense efforts from coast to coast—"and Canada is not prepared to cope with them."

He said in an interview on his return from a civil defense course in Ottawa that this information was given to him by a "high government source."

"Meanwhile, our whole civil defense set-up is built entirely around the atomic bomb," he said. "We're not doing a thing to guard against sabotage."

His informant, Ald. Scott said, claimed Canada has not the facilities to cope with saboteurs on the scale indicated, and nothing is being done to provide those facilities.

"The RCMP knows most of the Communists and their leaders," Ald. Scott said. "But our federal laws are so free and easy the RCMP can't do a thing."

His informant claimed the RCMP couldn't handle the situation alone if war broke out.

Ald. Scott said the civil defense course he attended was "very, worthwhile." Lectures were "excellent," and the lecturers "very competent men," but the whole emphasis is on "sneak bomb raids."

Winnipeg's metropolitan civil defense board wants to spend thousands of dollars on an air raid communications centre, he said, but saboteurs could put all Manitoba's power plants out of commission in minutes.

THE UNMENTIONABLES
"What good would your communications centre be then?" Lecturers in Ottawa, he said, talk "all around Russia and Communism, but they don't dare to come out and mention them."

"If we are going to spend millions on defense let us know what we're defending ourselves against. Russia is the only nation in the foreseeable future we could be at war with. Then let's say so."

Civil defense programs should include anti-sabotage training, Ald. Scott said, and such "essential" utilities as power plants should be given immediate protection against fifth columnists.

"Top officials in Ottawa are highly concerned about the saboteur menace," he said, "but their hands are tied."

Winston's 'Painting' Vacation Nearly Over

TOWER ISLE, Jamaica (Reuters)—Prime Minister Churchill packed away his paint brushes and three completed canvases today, ready to leave this millionaire's playground where he has spent 12 days away from the world's troubles.

He drives from the walled estate of "Prospect House" along the picturesque north coast road to Montego Bay to board a plane this afternoon for the 6½-hour flight to New York, where the liner Queen Mary is ready to take him home.

Flags and streamers decorate villages along the 67-mile road from Ocho Rios to Montego Bay. Jamaicans will turn out to catch what may be their first and last glimpse of the 78-year-old premier.

Only the weather conspired to spoil Churchill's vacation. Rain fell heavily for the first three days and there have been cloudy skies since—though they never kept Churchill from his daily

Ottawa Grants QCA First Air Subsidy

VANCOUVER (CP)—Queen Charlotte Airlines today became the first airline in Canadian aviation history to receive a direct federal subsidy.

The subsidy is designed to keep Vancouver Island centres regularly air-linked with Vancouver during months when traffic drops below economic limits.

James Spilsbury, QCA president, said his firm has been notified of a federal order-in-council which provides for special financial support up to $125,000 if required.

The subsidy will help give Nanaimo, Comox and Powell River a minimum of two regular flights a day to Vancouver, three flights a week from Murrell Island, Alert Bay, Sullivan Bay and Tofino to Vancouver, and four flights a week on an other service taking in Tofino, Metchik, Tahsis and Chamisa Bay.

Winch Foils Phony Watch Peddler

VANCOUVER (CP)—Harold Winch, provincial CCF leader, Wednesday chased a fly-by-night watch peddler down the street. He failed to catch him but gave a description to police.

Mr. Winch found the man trying to sell a watch for $80 in front of his office building and told him: "I'm warning you to get out of town. That watch is worth about $7."

The man took to his heels. Later, Mr. Winch said racketeers "forced out of the U.S." are moving into B.C. and cheating gullible Vancouverites out of thousands of dollars a month.

Coronation TV Hook-In Leaves Movie Men Cold

LONDON (AP)—Most of Britain's movie-theatre owners today cold-shouldered a government plan to let them show the BBC telecast of the Coronation on their screens June 2.

It is too expensive to equip a movie theatre for TV just for one day, they argue.

Cecil Bernstein, head of a chain owning 60 movie houses, commented today: "It would cost us £10,000 just to fit one movie theatre up for TV. We clearly will not spend all that for just one day."

Strong Move Seen to Draft Sloan as New Liberal Leader

Teachers Ask 22 Per Cent Pay Increase

Total Boost $377,190

Greater Victoria Teachers' Association today laid before a board of arbitration a wage schedule that would increase teachers' pay by approximately 22 per cent, or $377,190.

"We feel the request is justified," said Neil Swainson, spokesman for the teachers' delegation.

Increases per teacher range from $300 to about $1,000 per year, depending on their category.

T. Christie, Greater Victoria School Board secretary, remarked that the total teachers' payroll last year was approximately $1,700,000.

14-YEAR MAXIMUM
"We are also asking that the salary schedule be shortened," Mr. Swainson said today at the opening session of the board's sitting at the school board office.

"As a result of the economies instituted in the '30's, teachers reach the maximum point on their salary scales in 19 and 21 years. We would like that time shortened to 14 years," he said.

He said that in 1952, 63 out of the 77 schedules adopted in B.C. ranged over periods of from 12 to 15 years.

"Elsewhere scales are shorter," he said, remarking that the civil service maximum was reached in six years, the Victoria city hall in five to six years, and B.C. Electric over six to 10 years.

WANT 'INCENTIVE'
Retention of the "incentive type" schedule, whereby teachers start at lower rates than in other districts but work toward higher pay as their qualifications increased, also was asked by the teachers.

With Mr. Swainson were Mrs. Hazel Hodson, Horace Dawson and C. D. Owens, B.C. Teachers' Federation secretary.

W. H. M. Haldane appeared for the school board.

On the arbitration board, which has just finished sittings at Courtenay, Nanaimo and Duncan, are Lawrence Jacks, chairman; T. W. Ellis, school board nominee; and Nathan Nemetz, Q.C. teachers' nominee, all of Vancouver.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Agreement has been reached between Vancouver School Board and more than 1,500 high school and elementary teachers, it was announced today.

The teachers received no general increase. However, adjustments in the present scale, yearly increments and reduction of the number of years required to go from maximum to minimum salary were negotiated.

Details of the settlement were not immediately known.

Canadians Make 97 Per Cent Of Population

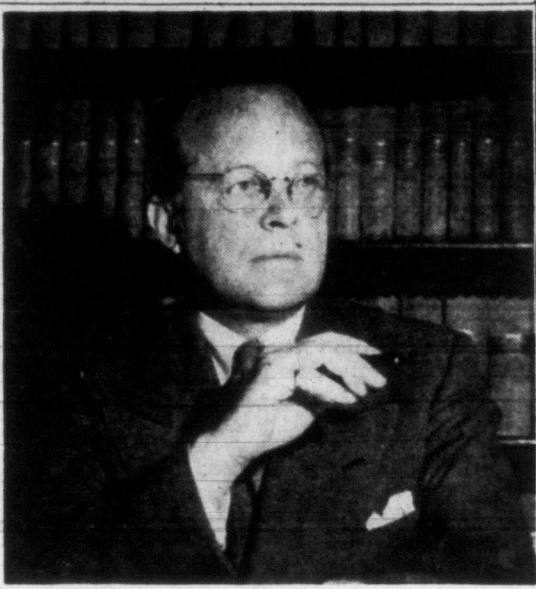

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian citizens made up 97 per cent of the 14,000,429 population in the 1951 census, the first count of heads since the Citizenship Act passed in 1947.

The bureau of statistics reported today that 13,567,939 residents of Canada were Canadian citizens, 104,071 were citizens of other Commonwealth countries, and 337,419 were citizens of other nations.

Of the latter, 69,000 were United States citizens, 236,490 were citizens of European countries, 15,122 of Asiatic countries, and 16,807 said they were citizens of other countries or stateless.

3,000 Still Homeless
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Possibly 3,000 residents of Northern California and Oregon are still homeless as a result of last week-end's storm, the Red Cross said today.

A Pacific headquarters' spokesman here said that of 965 families affected by the floods, 472 still are homeless.

CHIEF JUSTICE GORDON MCG. SLOAN ... new Liberal leader?

TRUMAN HAD IKE'S SON HOME FOR DAD'S SHOW

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Who ordered Major John Eisenhower home from Korea to see his father inaugurated as President?

Today, The Chronicle's Washington correspondent reports:

Dwight Eisenhower learned the answer just before Tuesday's inauguration by asking President Truman: "Sir, may I ask you a question: Who ordered my boy home from Korea? He's been giving me hell about it."

"I did," Truman said. "Just tell him that contrary old man in the White House did it."

The major was given 15 days' leave.

OTTAWA MAY ACT IN RAIL STRIKE

Naming of Mediator Could Be Final Effort to Avoid Country-Wide Tie-Up

By VICTOR MACKIE, Times Ottawa Correspondent
OTTAWA—The federal government may have to consider the naming of a mediator as a last-minute move to avoid a nation-strangling railway strike Feb. 2, informed sources said here.

Hon. M. F. Gregg, minister of labor, told the Commons Wednesday that there was still a possibility for new union-company talks leading to a settlement of the dispute.

If the talks are resumed and lead to a settlement the government will be happy to stay out of the picture. But if the railways and their employees cannot get together Ottawa may have to act, despite the government's reluctance to intervene.

Labor officials were keeping their fingers crossed. They were still hopeful that a way could be found for settlement without resorting to the appointment of a mediator.

However, the threat of a nationwide railway tie-up which would also involve a shut-down of telegraph services is viewed very seriously here. There is no disposition to view the situation through rose-colored glasses. In 1950 there was an inclination right up to the strike deadline to believe that the strike could not and would not transpire. This time it is seen as a grimly realistic prospect.

But Mr. Gregg's information which he passed along to the Commons Wednesday indicated that there was still hope that a settlement would be reached between the union, the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen representing 25,000 operating trainmen, and the railway companies.

'THAT'S COLD WATER!' 10-HOUR CORPSE YELLS

JERUSALEM (AP)—Life returned Wednesday to a man who had been officially pronounced dead for 10 hours and was being prepared for burial.

Khalil Krishan, 40, was handed to his family for burial by Amman Hospital authorities.

While the body was being washed with hot water in accordance with Moslem religious tradition, one of the family poured cold water on the body by mistake.

Immediately Krishan opened his eyes, looked around and said: "Who is washing me with cold water?"

Currie Report Accused Named Warrant Issued

Print Shop Employee Said CCF Member

MONTREAL (BUP)—Judge Rene Theberge today issued a warrant for the arrest of Fred Hensler, a printing shop employee, on a charge of theft of an unedited copy of the Currie report.

The warrant was sworn out on the complaint of Clarence Lelievre, an employee of George S. Currie, partner in a Montreal accounting firm and author of the controversial report on irregularities in the army works service.

COLDWELL SAW REPORT
Hensler was reported to be an active member of the CCF party, whose national leader, M. J. Coldwell, admitted he saw the report before it was presented officially to the defense department.

The government had left the question of criminal prosecution up to either Currie or the printers, claiming that the report was not government property at the time of the alleged theft.

Hensler's address was given as 362 Notre Dame Street West, which is the location of National Multigraphing & Printing. A company spokesman said he was an employee, but refused other comment.

Nazi Plane Found In Lake May Hold Fortune in Gold

VIENNA (AP)—Divers have found, deep in an Austrian lake, the wreckage of a wartime German transport plane rumored to be loaded with the gold and platinum hoard of several Nazi bigwigs.

A Junkers transport plane was shot down a few hours before the end of the Second World War. The pilot was killed, but two crew members were rescued and later disappeared.

The Junkers was reported to be the last courier plane of the Wehrmacht. According to reports in Austria, it contained a large treasure in rare metals.

The plane has been found at a depth of 132 feet.

Two More Former Czech Red Chiefs May Face Trials

VIENNA (AP)—A Czechoslovak newspaper indicated today that a new trial against former Communist leaders is imminent.

The Bratislava newspaper Pravda bitterly attacked two former commissioners of the state of Slovakia, Laco Novomesky and Gen. Gustav Husak, who were arrested in 1951.

They were charged with crimes similar to Foreign Minister Vlado Clementis, who was hanged with 10 other top Communists December 3.

The nature of the newspaper attack made it appear that the Communist government is preparing a trial to include Novomesky, Husak and several other former Slovak Communist leaders known to be under arrest.

Delayed Christmas Ferry Passenger

HONG KONG (Reuters)—Michael Patrick (the man without a country) O'Brien today will get a delayed Christmas parcel containing rum, whisky, clothes, aspirin, cigarettes—and a photograph record of "Slow Boat to China."

The parcel, from Australian soldiers in Japan, will be given to him when the ferry boat he calls home docks here, from Portuguese Macau on the Chinese mainland.

Since Sept. 18, O'Brien has made the Hong Kong-Macau trip more than 100 times. He has no papers which can prove his nationality and can't land at either end of the ferry's run until he gets some.

Party Ranks Preparing For Choice at Convention

By GORDON FORBES, Times Legislative Reporter

A strong movement to persuade Chief Justice Gordon McG. Sloan to accept the leadership of the B.C. Liberal Party has developed among the rank and file of the party in the last 10 days.

Liberals will meet in Vancouver Feb. 27 and 28 to choose their new leader. The "grass roots" campaign to get Mr. Justice Sloan back into the political field has gathered impetus since the convention date was announced.

With another general election expected in May or June, the backbone membership in the Liberal ranks is determined to make a comeback after the reverses suffered in last June's general election when Liberal strength in the Legislature was cut from 26 to 6 members.

They believe the chief justice can lead the party back to a dominant position in the affairs of B.C.

With his wide background of the political history of the province, long association with public affairs, and great knowledge of both the industrial and labor picture, they think he would receive enormous public support.

Mr. Justice Sloan comes from a political family of B.C.—his father, the late William Sloan, was a cabinet minister, member of the Oliver Government.

Mr. Sloan himself was attorney-general of B.C. from 1933 to 1937 in the Pattullo Government.

His supporters for party leadership point out he would bring a comparatively youthful and energetic outlook to the provincial scene—he is only 54—bolstered by his wide background of experience.

He went to the Court of Appeal bench in 1937 and when he was appointed Chief Justice in 1944 was the youngest jurist to hold that post.

Since then his work has not been confined to the appeal court.

There are other possible candidates for leadership, such as House leader E. T. Kenney of Skeena; Victoria MLA W. T. Strath and federal MP Arthur Laing of Vancouver, but the Chief Justice's supporters believe he would be unopposed if he consented to seek the leadership.

They contend Mr. Justice Sloan would be capable of maintaining close harmony between the provincial and federal wings of the party, something which at times in the past has been lacking.

He would have the complete blessing of high party stalwarts on the federal level, his supporters say.

Would Have to Resign From Bench

Accepting the leadership of the reduced Liberal party would be a tremendous challenge to the esteemed jurist. He would, of course, be required to step down from the bench, and most likely would go into private law practice.

Whether the Chief Justice will accept probably will not be known until just before the convention. In fact, it may not be known until the day of the convention.

But whenever the decision is made, the "draft Sloan movement" is gathering momentum in a drive his supporters hope will reach a climax then.

Meanwhile, party workers are in Vancouver already making preliminary plans for the important party.

It is understood the party will abandon the lush Hotel Vancouver as a convention site, and will stage the meeting in the Denman Auditorium.

In addition to choosing a new leader, the Liberals will frame a new platform, based on resolutions now being sent in from associations throughout the province.

For several months special sub-committees on the platform have been working on various phases of activity, such as agriculture, forestry, hospital insurance, welfare and finance, so the platform committee will have an abundance of ideas and material from which to draw.

The feeling in party rank and file is that the Liberal setback last year was due to the troubles arising out of the 10-year Coalition arrangement. They are hoping to do a down-to-earth rebuilding of the party with a vigorous new leader and a new platform based on long-standing party principles.

AUDIENCES SUSPENDED
Pope Laid Low With Continental 'Flu'

VATICAN CITY (AP)—An attack of influenza and fever confined the Pope to bed today. All his audiences were suspended temporarily.

The Vatican press office reported that the 77-year-old Pontiff's temperature was about 100 degrees.

He did not celebrate mass in the private chapel of his Vatican apartment this morning as he ordinarily does. His doctor visited him early today.

The Pope appeared tired last week at the consistories creating 24 new cardinals including Paul-Emile Cardinal Leger, Archbishop of Montreal, but through the week held many audiences.

After his call today, Dr. Riccardo Galeazzi said there was "no cause for concern."

The Pontiff's illness, he explained, was a "normal case of influenza."

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Influenza vaccine has been sent to United States military installations in Europe and the United Kingdom in an effort to check a big outbreak before it reaches epidemic stage.

The vaccine arrived here Wednesday aboard a plane which bucked bad weather and headwinds in its crossing from the U.S.

Ottawa Expects Mayer
OTTAWA (BUP)—The French embassy said today Premier Rene Mayer of France may visit Ottawa next month.
